On Unified Command

Don't Pressure Canada Now, U.S. Chiefs Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senior American military officials have advised Congress to avoid pressing Canada for any closer continental defense arrangement than has now been worked out.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, both said Wednesday they are satisfied with present agreements for Canadian-American co-operation in operating radar warning networks and other air defense facilities.

UNITED COMMAND

Representative Sterling Cole (Rep., N.Y.) asked during a hearing of the House of Representatives armed services committee whether arrangements have been completed for setting up a possible "united command for the combined defense of Canada and the United States."

Radford said "we have arrangements which I am sure" U.S. air defense officials believe "are entirely adequate for an emergency situation and we have not gone further because the arrangements that we have will lend themselves to an immediate single command if the Canadians are willing" to join one in an emergency.

"My own personal feelings are," Radford said, "that we shouldn't press them to go further than they have gone."

Wilson supported this position.

Aluminum Production Stops

Snowslide Blamed For Power Break

A snowslide, which is believed to have damaged two or three transmission line towers in the Kildala Pass, is probably responsible for the costly power failure at the Kitimat Alcan smelters.

The Daily Colonist learned last night that auxiliary power units supplied only enough power for the town's domestic use. Radio-telephone connections were still poor last night.

Power was interrupted Wednesday afternoon, stopping aluminum production.

The company has not yet announced when production will be resumed. It is believed it may be interrupted for at least two weeks.

Causing concern to company officials are the huge pots where the metal is kept in molten state.

If they are allowed to cool, the aluminum will harden and it would take at least two weeks to chip out the "frozen" metal.

Dawn Patrol Of Police Seeks Killer

NEW YORK (UP)—A "dawn patrol" of 50 detectives was ordered out this morning to check Manhattan's swank night-clubs for leads on the murderer of Serge Rubinstein, the fun-loving financier.

Rubinstein, a draft-dodger, millionaire and man of many enemies, was found strangled Thursday in the bedroom of his plush Fifth Avenue mansion across the street from Central Park.

The detectives were told to question cab drivers, night club waiters and operators and others who know the comings and goings of members of cafe society.

'Questioning' Wins Liberty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Thomas Dohm Thursday dismissed a vagrancy charge against John Olynk, 27. He said an operating room table was no place to question a man. Olynk was arrested in St. Paul's Hospital when he declined to explain a bullet wound in his leg.

Refuses To Name Attackers

Semenick Convicted On Unusual Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Semenick, middle-aged victim of a gangland ride last November, was convicted here Thursday on a rarely-used charge of "concealing the identity of the two men who attempted to murder him."

Mr. Justice James Coady remanded him to the end of the Supreme Court assizes for sentencing. The assizes are expected to end Monday.

The jury deliberated 25 minutes before convicting Seminick on the charge, laid under British common law.

NO PROVISION

Court officials, who could recall no similar case in Canadian legal history, said there was no provision for the charge under the Criminal Code.

The charge was not one of obstructing justice, they said.

Semenick, who appeared in court Thursday still showing effects of a bullet in the right thigh and a recent heart attack, is also scheduled to appear in court next week on a charge of trafficking in narcotics.

He was arrested on the second charge Wednesday, while out on bail on the other charge.

An RCMP officer testified that Semenick refused to name his attackers because he might be "violating some code to which he clung."

Semenick refused to identify the two men who drove him to Stanley Park here November 3 and shot him as he fled the car.

Walk-Out Ends At Ford

TORONTO (CP)—The Ford of Canada strike, longest in company history, ended yesterday after 109 days.

The walk-outs took nearly 9,000 workers from their jobs in three company plants in Ontario.

A Ford official said the powerhouse at Windsor is being reopened at once and cars are expected to come off the production line a week from Monday.

And "hooo" have we got here, might be the question both this baby saw-whet owl and John MacLeod, 12, of 892 Admirals Road, would like answered. The five-inch owl was found stunned on Admirals Road yesterday by the Colonist carrier boy.

Bonner Invites Test

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Thursday he would welcome a test case to decide whether advance ticket sales of the Pacific National Exhibition can be classed as a lottery.

Buyers of advance tickets are eligible for automobile prizes and the PNE has estimated it would lose $200,000 a year if sales were stopped.

Mr. Bonner Tuesday said the provincial government will enforce a provision of the federal criminal code prohibiting ticket sales outside the site of an agricultural fair.

"I have no intention of debating the correctness of any legal opinion offered by this department," the attorney-general said.

"If any opinion is incorrect, the courts are available to pronounce upon it, and we shall be grateful to have any decision."

PNE directors will decide whether to contest the ruling at a meeting next Wednesday.

Former MP Gets Prison

LONDON (Reuters)—Albert Raymond Blackburn, 40, former Labor member of Parliament, Thursday was sentenced to two years in prison for fraud.

U.S. Plans Planes With Atom Power

WASHINGTON (UP)—The air force is planning an atom-powered intercontinental bombing fleet that would free the United States from dependence on overseas bases, Gen. Nathan F. Twining said yesterday.

At the same time, Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott said it is "imperative" for the U.S. to beat Russia in the critical race to develop city-wrecking intercontinental guided missiles with hydrogen warheads.

Both air force officials testified before the House armed services committee, which is reviewing the nation's over-all defense program. Democrats have cast a critical eye on sharp military manpower cuts ordered by the administration.

General Twining, air force chief of staff, said "many difficult engineering problems" remain before an atomic-powered bomber is built.

"But, he said, "we believe that the advances we have made to date have given us the basic knowledge from which we can project practical applications . . ."

"We have hope that this will be a truly intercontinental weapon freeing us from the dependence of overseas logistics (bases)," he said. "We have placed a high priority on the development of this equipment."

Brief Blaze Levels Terrace Civic Centre

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Fire leveled the civic centre here in a two-hour-blaze last night.

Damage was estimated at $100,000. The former army building was insured for about $25,000.

Terrace's 50-man volunteer fire brigade, with only two trucks, was unable to save the structure and concentrated on preventing the fire from sweeping through an adjacent elementary school.

Fire Chief Curly Casey was reported in good condition in hospital where he was taken after being overcome by smoke.

The fire is believed to have started in an oil furnace below eight bowling alleys.

Caretaker Scottie Robinson, his wife and family, escaped from their upper-floor home but lost all possessions.

Reds Attempt Seal-Off

Evacuation Vessel Late from Tachens As Tension Grows

Planes, Ships On Patrols

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—An evacuation ship due to arrive today with wounded Nationalist Chinese soldiers and civilians from the Communist-threatened Tachens failed to appear on time at Formosa's northern port of Keelung.

Reports reaching here said Communist destroyers and high-speed torpedo boats were patrolling the entrances to the Tachens in an effort to seal them off from evacuation ships.

Other reports said United States Sabrejets of the 18th interceptor wing now were patrolling Formosa Strait preparatory to the evacuation of Nationalist garrisons from the Tachens under protection of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

In further hot action this morning, the Chinese Nationalist air force claimed its bombers operating over Red-held Toumen island had early today scored direct hits on a second 1,500-ton Communist warship in three days. It said the ship was "badly crippled."

BASES POUNDED

The air force added that more waves of Nationalist planes had pounded Communist bases in the area.

Powerful U.S. air and naval forces began swinging into position today to shield the evacuation of 20,000 Nationalist troops from the Tachens.

The mammoth operation, almost under the noses of the Chinese Communists, was expected to be launched any hour between now and the week end. Evacuation plans were reported to have been completed at a Nationalist cabinet meeting Thursday.

SQUADRONS ARRIVE

Two squadrons of American F-86 Sabrejets—heroes of the sky war over Korea—flew into Formosa from their Manila and Okinawa bases Thursday and the U.S. Far East Air Force in Tokyo announced other "offensive units" are being redeployed to forward bases—presumably Formosa.

Vice-Admiral Alfred M. Pride, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet now off Formosa, is reported to have made final plans to provide an air "umbrella" with his carrier-based aircraft and the air force planes over the evacuation scene.

The Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa and within 20 miles of the Communist mainland, are exposed to the nearby Communist-held islands of Toumen and Yikiangshan. Red artillery batteries on Toumen twice shelled Upper Tachen island Thursday.

SHIPS SET AFIRE

Meantime, the Nationalist fighter-bombers smashed for the second time within 24 hours at Yikiangshan, captured last week by the Communists. A Nationalist air force announcement said its planes set ablaze three landing ships near Yikiangshan before being driven off without loss by Communist interceptor planes.

As the first American Sabre jets took up position at "temporary duty bases" in Formosa, reports grew that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek has agreed to President Eisenhower's suggestions for a cease-fire in the Formosan straits.

Eisenhower Says:

Formosa Policy Defensive Only

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared yesterday his Formosa policy is purely defensive—and he reserved to himself alone any decision to strike the Red Chinese mainland in safeguarding the island stronghold of Chiang Kai-shek.

He thus moved to quiet expressed fears in the Senate that Chiang might drag the United States into a great conflict, or that a hot-headed American military man might launch preventive war.

The statement brought powerful support from chairman Walter George (Dem., Ga.) of the foreign relations committee, who called the chamber to back the President "in this grave juncture of world affairs."

* * *

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department barred relatives from visiting 17 Americans imprisoned by Red China for the time being at least because of the "increasing belligerent" actions of the Communists.

* * *

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Diplomatic sources said the Security Council would be called into session to debate the China crisis early next week.

* * *

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—A member of the British parliament said here yesterday most Englishmen would resist supporting the United States in a war with Red China. The Hon. Fenner Brockway said the Labor party, which represents the majority opinion in England, "is strongly critical of President Eisenhower's policy" in asking for permission to use force in Formosa, if necessary.

* * *

WASHINGTON (UP)—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway recently told Congress the Chinese Nationalists would have to be backed by 300,000 to 400,000 American ground troops to win a foothold on the China Mainland.

* * *

TAIPEI, Formosa (UP)—Retired Maj.-Gen. Claire Chennault said yesterday the "time has come for a showdown with the Chinese Communists" and it will be easier for the United States and its allies to defeat them now than one year hence.

Situation Grave—St.Laurent

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said Thursday the international situation is "quite grave" because of developments in Formosa.

He added that as a result of the Formosa situation, Far Eastern affairs will be the main subject for discussion at the Prime Ministers' Commonwealth Conference opening Monday in London.

The prime minister told the Commons that, as a result of the Formosa situation and "after certain messages to and from London," External Affairs Minister Pearson will accompany him to the conference. They will leave tonight by RCAF plane.

Senator Urges Recognition

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian recognition of Communist China was urged Thursday in the Senate.

Senator William Euler (L, Ontario) said that, since Communists form the "actual government" of China, "we should recognize it." He added that Red China "should come into the United Nations."

BULLETINS

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — John Lecuyer, 26-year-old bush-worker, Thursday was sentenced to a 10-year term in penitentiary for manslaughter in the beating death New Year's Day of Helen Rivers, 21, in his cabin the couple shared near Blind River, 90 miles east of here.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons was urged Thursday night to adopt a system of simultaneous language translation of debates, thus permitting members to follow speeches given in a tongue other than their own.

Public Condemnation and Indignation

Scottish Officials Deplore 'Limey Lizzie' Sign

EDINBURGH (AP)—Scottish officials expressed consternation Thursday over a sign painted on the wall of Holyroodhouse demanding that the Queen stay out of town.

The sign, painted in four-foot high yellow letters, was discovered at dawn on the garden wall of the palace. It read: "Get out, Limey Lizzie."

The sign was quickly scrubbed away and an investigation was opened by police to track down the painter. But the trail was at a dead end.

It was a 300-yard trail of dripped yellow paint, running from the garden wall at the foot of towering Arthur's Seat mountain, to a deserted alley. There it ended. Police say they think the painter made his getaway in a car parked in the alley.

Chief Inspector Andrew Crosbie said "quite right there is public condemnation and indignation over this affair. We are anxious to get the culprit and if anyone can help please let them step up."

One of the first to speak out was Nigel Tranter, Scottish novelist and vice-convener of the Scottish Covenant Association, a group which wants a separate Scottish Parliament and home rule.

Tranter is not anti-English. But he is pro-Scottish.

"I deplore actions of this sort," the novelist said. "Personally I think the sign was painted by some youth. The word 'Limey' is used in horror comics and such like. It is seldom used by a Scot."

Other officials thought that possibly extremists in the Scottish nationalist movement might be responsible. In recent years several bright red mail boxes in Scotland have been dynamited.

The reason was: the mail boxes carried the cipher "E R II" which means Elizabeth Regina Queen Elizabeth the Second.

As far as England is concerned the Queen is the second Elizabeth to reign. But she is the first Elizabeth to reign over Scotland. England and Scotland hardly were on speaking terms when the first Elizabeth, of Tudor, reigned.

Painting the sign at Holyroodhouse was a particularly rude thing to do," one Scot said, especially since the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are due to spend a week at Holyroodhouse in late June.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

ELECTION candidates will be forbidden to deceive the voters with old photographs of themselves, if a bill now before the Pennsylvania state legislature becomes law.

Representative Willard F. Agnew, Jr., co-sponsor of the bill, said it would prevent a candidate "using a picture taken 25 years before, showing him youthful and vigorous."

* * *

The Pennsylvania legislature seeks to accomplish by legal means what small boys armed with crayons have been doing all along. Small boys have added years to the age of many candidates with no legal compulsion whatsoever.

Furthermore, they have been just as willing to draw beards and mustaches on pictures of women as of men, thereby showing a praiseworthy lack of sex-prejudice.

As a result of this art work, a number of voters may well have gone to the polls under the impression that they were about to elect the first bearded lady ever to sit in the legislature.

With only a little urging, the small boys could certainly be induced to improve the candidates' pictures further with wrinkles, crows' feet and bags under the eyes, so that politicians not only looked their age but much older and even more sinister than in real life.

* * *

It has by no means been established, however, that youth is an asset in politics. Sometimes it appears to be a handicap. People distrust young men, especially if they are smart.

"Too young," is a common charge hurled at callow youngsters in their 50s and 60s. "We need men with experience."

As for the 20s and 30s, such ages are practically non-existent in politics.

An MLA aged 35 (some people feel) would be much the same as an uncle aged nine. Uncles should be middle-aged men with watch chains, fat paunches and fat wallets. Politicians should be old men with honest faces.

I never heard of a face embezzling public money—when the thing is done at all, it usually results from a conspiracy of the brain and the hands. But the voters continue to set great store by the face. And that's why those Pennsylvania people are making such a fuss about the election pictures.

It occurs to me that a really smart politician might try to make his picture look older rather than younger.

* * *

Of course if they are going to insist on the pictures being the right age, they may also insist that they look like the subject, which will be an even more revolutionary development.

I can see a government campaign-photo inspector ordering the photographer to quit re-touching the prints.

"Put that shine on the nose and restore those moles, or I'll have your license under the Election Frauds Act," I can hear the inspector saying. "And make sure that egg-stain on the vest shows up clearly, too, mister."

* * *

This may (Heaven forbid) be the start of a campaign to tell the truth all the time, in words and picture. In other words, the end of padded shoulders and padded speeches. I hope I don't live to see such a day. Life is dull enough already.

Old Slate Re-elected

Automobile Club Keeps '54 Model

Members of the Victoria Automobile Club yesterday expressed confidence in their executive by re-electing the entire slate of officers.

W. T. STRAITH

W. T. Straith, QC, will continue as president; H. J. Pendray, vice-president; R. W. Hibberson,* past president; and George I. Warren, secretary-treasurer.

Directors are W. J. Clark, J. V. Johnson, Walter S. Miles, Frank G. Mulliner, and R. B. Wilson.

Directors reported that 1954 was the most successful in the history of the Victoria Automobile Club with membership now reaching 2,100, a 50 per cent increase in the past year.

The club is in a solid financial condition with $6,000 in Canadian government bonds and $6,431.26 in the bank.

During the year 285 members were rendered emergency road services at official garages and 158 members of affiliated clubs were also rendered assistance.

Sixty-four of the Victoria members were given emergency aid by other affiliated clubs and 33 members reimbursed for service rendered when no official garages were available.

Navigator Due Back In Port

The Island Navigator will limp into Victoria in tow of her sister tug Island Challenger this morning, 23 days after she struck a reef off Chamiss Bay in Kyuquot Sound.

H. B. Elworthy, president of Island Tug & Barge Co., said yesterday equipment will be removed at the company plant and the vessel will be docked at Victoria Machinery Depot early next week for examination.

Tenders for the repair job will be called soon. The Navigator is expected to be out of commission for two months.

Capt. George Dance beached the tug after it hit a reef 1,000 yards from shore and two company tugs and two heavy lift barges raised the Navigator, January 17.

The return was delayed by bad weather and a stop at Ahousat.

Store Opens On Burnside

Well known for many years in the wholesale business in Victoria, A. R. (Dick) Wakeham, 1190 Noble, has opened an up-to-date butcher and provision store at 106 Burnside West.

Mr. Wakeham was in business for 10 years in a store on the other side of the street.

The new premises, which were opened yesterday, are known as the Burnside Meat Market.

Canned goods, dairy produce and fruit and vegetables are also carried.

Moscow Plans Huge Stadium

LONDON (Reuters)—A new stadium to hold 150,00 people is to be built at the foot of the Lenin Hills, Moscow radio announced yesterday.

Gold Mining Aid Reduced

OTTAWA (CP)—Mines Minister Prudham Thursday night announced a scale-down in federal gold-mining subsidies, estimated by officials to save the treasury and taxpayers about $4,500,000 a year. The emergency aid will continue for two years, 1955 and 1956, under a sharply-revised formula.

Under revisions he announced in the Commons mines whose production costs are $26.50 an ounce or less will no longer be eligible for aid. Previously mines with production costs of more than $18 an ounce were eligible.

In addition, the maximum rate of assistance is reduced to $12.33 an ounce from $13.50.

Officials said the effect of the new payments formula will be that federal outlays which totaled about $16,500,000 in 1954 will be reduced in the current year to about $12,000,000.

The number of mines whose production costs are between $18 and $26.50 an ounce was not immediately known, nor was there any immediate information as to how many mines, if any, will be forced to close because of the scale-down.

Garden Notes

Fast Rhubarb Saves Money

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

It has become a rather expensive matter to plant up a bed of rhubarb big enough to keep the family supplied with fresh stalks all through the growing season. Good clumps of roots will cost from 30 cents to 50 cents each, and you need at least 10 plants to keep a succession of stalks coming along.

Even at that, if you buy your clumps and plant them this spring you still can't harvest any rhubarb this year, as a whole season's growth is required to get the crowns plumped up and established ready for cropping in 1956.

There is a rather interesting solution to this dilemma. It sounds a bit screwy to say that you can raise rhubarb faster from seed than you can from roots, but nevertheless, this is the case—if you pick the right variety.

SOME THIS YEAR

You see, there is a rhubarb called Glaskin's New Perpetual which not only can be raised easily from a 7 cent packet of seed, but if you sow it early enough, you can actually pull a moderate supply of sticks this year.

To secure a crop the first year from seed, sowings should be made before the end of March. You can use seed flats in a sunny cold frame or greenhouse, spacing the plants about two inches apart each way, or you can start the seeds on a sunny windowsill, sowing them in paper cups filled with light sandy soil.

In this connection, it is a good idea to slit the sides of each paper cup with a sharp knife or razor blade before filling with soil, then patch them up again with a bit of Scotch tape. When the time comes to set the young rhubarb plants out in the garden, it is an easy matter to slit the tape and lift out the ball of soil with no disturbance of the roots at all.

In late April, the plants go outdoors into a prepared bed, and spaced three feet apart each way. The ground should be deeply dug, and all the manure you can spare mixed in, for rhubarb, with its enormous leaves, is a greedy feeder. After this, a dressing of bone meal should be raked into the top six inches of soil, using a level cupful to each square yard. Bone meal is a slow-acting fertilizer, and will come available to the plants just when it is most needed.

The young plants are set in with the crown just barely under the surface of the soil, and should be watered in with a few drops of vitamin B1 in the water to get the roots away to a good start. Rhubarb needs lots of water through the growing season, and one way to ensure a steady supply is to sink a tin can with a few small holes in the bottom alongside the roots of each plant, filling the can with water every dry day. You can speed things up a bit, too, by adding a little soluble fertilizer to the water occasionally after the roots are established and the plants growing away freely.

You can sow the seeds outYoucan sow the seeds outdoors in the usual way at the same time as you start the rest of your garden, but in this case you can't pull any sticks until next year. With the early sowing, however, a few sticks can be taken starting in July, but don't overdo it. The plants will need lots of leaves left on to build up really strong crowns for the years to come.

Glaskin's New Perpetual is a beautiful rhubarb, with brilliant ruby stalks. Occasionally you run into the odd plant throwing green sticks—these are rogues and should be pulled up and destroyed.

Seeds are available from Thompson & Morgan, Ipswich, England, for sixpence a packet, plus postage.

Clerk Sought in Britannia Case Added to RCMP Most-Wanted List

OTTAWA (CP)—The RCMP has added the name of a little-known clerk, sought in connection with $44,500 missing from the post office where he worked, to its list of most-wanted fugitives.

The new listing is that of John Keith MacDonald, 46, [illegible] appeared from the Britannia Beach, B.C., post office last December 17.

The RCMP said Thursday MacDonald, a former insurance agent who once lived in Montreal, worked at the post office under the name John Clealand Wallace Black. They said he was last seen leaving the area the night before a registered mail parcel containing $44,500 was discovered missing.

MacDonald joins five others on the most-wanted list: Michel Sisco, alias Antoine d'Agostino, 47; William Patrick Ryan, 65; William Adams, alias Wasely Somborski, alias Joe Lacheau, [illegible] alias Mike Clancy, alias Bob Collins, 28, and Clifford Eugene Ernest Dawley, 46.

Dawley, son of a former Esquimalt police chief, was serving a six-month term for a previous escape when he broke out of Oakalla last August. He was originally charged with assaulting a RCMP constable at Duncan and was awaiting trial on two charges of car theft, one of possession of house-breaking tools, and a habitual criminal count.

Sisco is a Montreal restaurant owner who did not appear to answer narcotics and conspiracy charges in 1950. He previously was convicted at Toulouse, France, in 1948 of [illegible] and [illegible] absentia to death.

Ryan, international swindler formerly of England and New Zealand, is sought for a horse race fraud involving about $15,000.

Police in St. Catharines, Ont., seek Adams on a charge of murdering his father.

The RCMP want O'Connor on a charge of attempted murder arising from a shooting affray at Keremeos, B.C., in May, 1953.

Orphanage Loss $14,000 in 1954

A loss of more than $14,000 on 1954 operations was experienced by the B.C. Protestant Orphanage.

It was disclosed at the recent annual meeting of the orphanage that total income for 1954 amounted to $22,048, an increase of $3,123 over the previous year. But expenses increased by more than $7,000 to total $36,190.

Orphanage officials were not too concerned, however.

"We operate with a loss each year," said board member Denis Humphries, "but it is always covered."

Edward Williams was re-elected vice-president of the organization and Reginald Hayward, Jr., was elected vice-president.

C. Ellington is secretary and R. Shanks, treasurer.

Eelected to the board of directors were Denis Humphries, Reginald Hayward Sr., R. Hampton, E. Pope, D. S. Tuck, Mrs. E. G. Hart, Mrs. W. Holder and Canon George Biddle, chaplain.

Donations To Chest Few, High

Individual contributions to the 1954 Community Chest campaign in Greater Victoria averaged $8.69, far more than the average per capita figure.

Figures released at a directors' meeting yesterday show that the per capita donation, based on a 105,000 population, was $1.86, less than 25 per cent of the average actual contribution.

Donations so far total $195,600, more than 96 per cent of the goal of $203,000.

The donations were made by 22,500 persons and companies.

Taking comparative figures from all wage brackets, the Chest said employees on payroll deduction gave an average of $9.43, while employees not giving through that scheme contributed an average of $2.75.

Highest average donation of $16.70 came from the professional group and other figures were: Residential, $4.71; municipal employees, $6.87; provincial employees, $4.13 and federal employees, $2.67.

Among the 13 groups of workers who gave through employee associations, donations were generally higher than in 1953. The names of three companies had not been on the list the year before.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank Noel, veteran Associated Press photographer, Wednesday received the Bronze Star for his coverage of the Korean war and for standing up to the Communists during 32 months as their prisoner.

Danger of Raw Milk Emphasized at Probe

People who drink raw milk are taking a "quite high" chance of catching a disease, the Victoria-Esquimalt milk inspector told the Royal Commission on milk here yesterday.

Donald Wakelyn, speaking as Mr. Justice J. V. Clyne's two-day hearing ended, said: "Pasteurization does destroy harmful bacteria; without it, you will always have that element of chance present."

Paul Aldersey, Duncan dairyman, said lack of pasteurization means "probably every liklihood of disease," but Port Alberni dairyman Norman McKinnon opposed compulsory pasteurization because "there is a small group that wants raw milk, and they must be served."

Abner Lambert, a Gordon Head farmer who sells milk to approximately 400 Greater Victoria families, urged that the people vote on any pasteurization proposal.

Mr. Wakelyn said best quality milk was from Vancouver Island, where the bacteria count is half or more of that of Fraser Valley milk but quality of the latter is improving. During his five years as Victoria 'milk inspector, he had heard of only one case of undulant fever.

Mr. Aldersey, urged that milk board regulations be enforced, said a great many producers in the Duncan area are selling raw milk although they do not have licenses.

"These people are not properly inspected," he said.

A. E. Webb, Vancouver Island milk inspector, suggested a new act returning milk controls to producers and distributors as offering "the greatest degree of hope for the milk industry."

He said controls work best when the industry handles them.

Under a new act, distributor-producer councils would set standards of eligibility and licensing and would set retail and wholesale price schedules.

Asking that Victoria stores be allowed a two-cent price differential on a quart of milk, Mrs. Elizabeth Mills, president of the Victoria branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers, said the differential boosted store sales in Vancouver by nine times.

"We in Victoria are denied that privilege," she said, adding that high milk prices are causing the public here to buy powdered milk and as a result producers are losing the best paying market.

Testimony was also given by dairymen from Duncan, Koksilah, Saanich, Courtenay and Comox, who felt prices of imported milk should not be more than one or two cents per quart below district prices.

More Finagling with Butter

AGRICULTURE Minister Gardiner's latest scheme to unload in Canada part of the 70,000,000-pound surplus of butter that he has failed to dispose of anywhere else betrays what looks like a sense of desperation over a situation which has been growing worse year by year. The government's frenzied "give-away" program amounts to acknowledgment that the huge surplus cannot be got rid of in the ordinary way or at the artificially high prices the government has established as a means of bonusing the butter industry. The sheer stupidity of the Dominion's price support policy has been evident for a long time, but Mr. Gardiner with the stubbornness that is one of his chief characteristics has persevered in it despite the clearest indications that the longer the system is retained the worse the situation can only become.

The government's latest brain wave is an offer of free butter to public institutions such as hospitals and orphanages up to one-third of their total requirements, on condition that they buy the remaining two-thirds from the government at the regular price. Such a program appears to be an unwarranted invasion of the business of regular suppliers of the institutions, to which they are entitled to object. But that is not all. It has been stated officially in Ottawa that one of the motives behind the give-away plan is to "knock out some competition from low-priced margarine." What right has any government to set about knocking competition between any commodities? The fact that the federal government, by acquiring huge stocks of butter, has cast itself in the role of one of the competitors makes strategy of this sort look all the worse.

As for the institutions supposed to benefit from Ottawa's bounty, the probability is that they will view the offer with suspicion. Since institutions are maintained out of taxes, no one would object to them getting a bargain; but what sort of bargain is this? Butter held long in store deteriorates and ultimately spoils. For all one knows, the butter to be made available to hospitals and the like may be perfectly wholesome, or it may not. The point is less whether it is good or bad than what the patients think it is. Sick people are apt to imagine things, and the knowledge that they are being fed butter that has been kept in store for a year or two is not likely to help their peace of mind.

Anyhow whether it succeeds or fails this scheme is nothing better than a panicky stop-gap settling nothing. Late last year when Parliament was in recess Mr. Gardiner declined to say what the policy would be on price support next season, when new production would add more tonnage to the mountainous stockpile. Parliament is in session again, and a straight answer from the minister is awaited.

On War and Peace

GENERAL Douglas MacArthur's views on war and peace are perhaps somewhat new—he was dismissed from his Korean command because he was deemed too belligerent—but they do him credit nevertheless. Nor will he be sneered at as he seems to think, for in different and more picturesque terms he says only what every responsible leader in the West has said time and again. It is widespread recognition of the suicidal nature of modern global war that has induced the West repeatedly to try to come to terms with Soviet Russia.

Unfortunately sermons on the futility of war—and praiseworthy though his sentiments are that is what the general's latest utterance is—do not bring peace. Would that they did. This is a coldly practical world, unhappily so perhaps but a stark fact which it is perilous to ignore and which is not changed by exhortation. Preparedness may not lead to international amity but assuredly if the West laid down its weapons in a one-sided idealistic gesture that would be fatal, as suicidal a step as global war itself.

Nor can public opinion substitute for international inspection of armaments, for public opinion is not cohesive, has no world entity. Absolutely nothing in the post-war record suggests that public opinion in Soviet Russia or Red China has the slightest influence on events, and it would be extreme folly to base Western statesmanship on any such assumption. That is a risk which simply cannot be taken. One doubts exceedingly that were General MacArthur the American president instead of General Eisenhower that his course of action would differ greatly from present U.S. foreign policy.

Far from being magical a proclamation by the United States that it was ready to abolish war "in concert with the great powers" would be unlikely to change the situation. The words "in concert" are the stumbling block. President Eisenhower for example has already announced his country's willingness to banish atomic weapons, the core of the entire problem, in concert with its vis-a-vis Soviet Russia—but to no avail. Abolition of war would as General MacArthur says be a blessing beyond imagination but his concepts of the measures to be taken, splendid in rhetoric and intention though they may be, offer little practical hope of bringing to fruition this much desired goal.

Lopping Off the Hours

SPEEDED-UP trans-continental train service by Canada's two major railways this spring will be likely to earn the hearty approval of the traveling public. To lop a night in the train off the Vancouver to Montreal journey for instance would be to cut the tedium of that trip considerably. The saving in time has been estimated between 12½ and 16 hours with reference to Toronto from this coast by the CPR, a factor which speaks for itself. Victoria will welcome the change for another reason: its boat and train departure schedules will mesh again in a more reasonable pattern, thus avoiding annoying delays in transit.

Improvement in roadbed, more powerful locomotives, and ever-growing competition from the highways have no doubt influenced the decision of the railways to speed up their continental crossings. The effect will apply equally to light freight and express, implying a faster service for business houses in the main centres served. Thus Canada is growing smaller in its effectual time-distance, a factor which should in time help to weld all regions of the nation closer together. With such progress in mind the day may come when the "mountain division" of the two railways will be electrified, and a further step thus taken in lopping off the travel-hours between the east and the west. Waterpowers are readily available.

One thing, however, the railway announcement does not do, and that is alter the current disabilities of Victoria as an embarkation point. Only construction of suitable ship tonnage can do that. With two years from drawing board to launching and hull completion, what is not planned today cannot be in evidence before 1957 or 1958.

Interpreting the News

System Helps Enemy

By J. M. ROBERTS

Associated Press News Analyst

THERE are occasions when the American political system, which frequently requires the executive branch to be more specific about its intentions than is good for U.S. relations with other countries, actually produces information of benefit to an enemy.

One of the things the Eisenhower administration has been trying to do is retain its flexibility in dealing with the Far Eastern situation. It is trying to go as far as necessary in warning the Chinese Reds without tying itself to too many automatic actions in the future.

* * *

This time, however, the cause of eventual lessening of the tension over Formosa may be served by the Senate debate which forced clarification of the preventive war issue.

Red propaganda has been playing that angle, trying to make it appear the United States, instead of merely intending to defend Formosa, is preparing warlike positions. This occurred before the subject was raised in the Senate.

The explanation that no such idea is entertained—even that retaliation against the Chinese mainland is still not to be an automatic reaction by field commanders but remains strictly under presidential authority—was needed.

* * *

It would have been better, of course, for the cause of a unified front, if the doubtful senators could have gained publication of the information without first making it a point of open attack.

There has never been any great danger that Chiang Kai-shek or Syngman Rhee, or both, would draw the United States into war against her will. They are too dependent, and even their combined forces would soon stop rolling if they sent them against the Reds without prior guarantees that the United States would back them up.

* * *

One of the major points in the present American position, however, is that Formosa and South Korea do not have forces in being which, if the Reds make a break demanding American intervention, could make important contributions.

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

A LADY draws my attention to the fact that in Glasgow pensioners are allowed to travel on street cars and buses during certain hours for a penny; the lowest fare on the circuit, no matter the length of their journey.

Zones are in use there of course and in the main our buses don't operate on a zonal system, but she's a pensioner and she wishes some similar concession were in effect here. I wish it were too, say a nickel a trip, to anywhere.

Would somebody who can do something about this care to take a hint?

* * *

Read in the paper where one Ted Linusay, captain of the Detroit NHL hockey team, skated to the boards and walloped a spectator—not with his fist but with his stick.

A fine gallant gesture indeed.

* * *

Apropos a recent stir in local waters Cordova Bay's Rev. D. C. O'Connell passes along this verse by the late Rev. G. A. Studdart Kennedy, famous First World War padre known as "Woodbine Willie." The poem is entitled "The Psychologist," and runs:

He takes the Saints to pieces,
And labels all the parts,
He tabulates the secrets
Of loyal loving hearts.
He probes their selfless passion,
And shows exactly why,
The martyr goes out singing,
To suffer and to die.
The beatific vision
That brings them to their knees
He smilingly reduces
To infant phantasies.
The Freudian unconscious
Quite easily explains
The splendour of their sorrows,
The pageant of their pains.
The manifold temptations
Wherewith the flesh can vex
The Saintly soul, are samples
Of OEdipus complex.
The subtle sex perversion,
His eagle glance can tell,
That makes their joyous heaven
The horror of their hell.
His reasoning is perfect,
His proofs as plain as paint,
He has but one small weakness,
He cannot make a "Saint."

* * *

I was surprised to note the thesis that vision and intelligence were one and the same and that comprehension improves in relation to a speed-up of the reading tempo. The writer of these notes has read avidly all his life, acquired a fairly fast gait at it too, but finds he has to slow down a bit if he really wants to plumb the gist.

I must now assume it is his intelligence that's at fault.

A duke is a vehicle, a vehicle is a device, a device is a spectacle, a spectacle is a mirror, a mirror is an exemplar, an exemplar is a case, a case is a pair, a pair is a string, a string is a hoax, a hoax is a trick, a trick is a knicknack, a knicknack is a trifle, a trifle is a dessert, a dessert is a course, a course is a shift, a shift is a suit, a suit is a company, a company is a band, a band is a tie, a tie is a draw, a draw is a stroke, a stroke is a beat, a beat is a scoop, a scoop is a bucket, a bucket is a vessel, a vessel is a ship, a ship is a vehicle, and a vehicle is a duke.

Some language, isn't it?

* * *

There is a stately ritual to a Legislative Assembly opening that reflects the intangibles of our constitution. The fascination is obvious, else the galleries would be empty instead of crowded. It would be misleading to say that Tuesday's ceremonial reminded me of the Coronation scene in Westminster Abbey, yet the connection is not dim but quite clear. The mystique of the monarchial system lies in the delicate balance of Crown and Commons, achieved only after centuries of evolution and manifest anew as in turn the Speaker and the Lieutenant-Governor each fitted into the parliamentary perspective.

I must say, too, that each of these dignitaries bore himself with admirable mien, an intangible itself not without merit in the complex yet simple pattern of democracy to which we adhere.

And all the ladies present, needless to say, added the atmosphere of charm of which their Sovereign would be proud.

On the Record

Crisis of Confidence in Europe

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE rearmament issue is tearing West Germany into vehemently opposing camps. Spearheaded by the Social Democrats and the trade unions, but supported by non-socialists, including outstanding members of the Protestant Evangelical Church, a nation-wide campaign is under way to take the issue to the people. A 24-hour strike of Ruhr coal miners, though called for another reason, turned into an anti-rearmament demonstration. On January 29 the campaign will culminate in a huge mass meeting in a church in Frankfort. Leaders are demanding a referendum.

In short, a policy for which the United States has confidently expected German support is turning a large popular minority, at least, against Chancellor Adenauer and the United States, as the vote for or against rearmament becomes interpreted as a vote for or against the permanent division of Germany.

* * *

The weakness of the chancellor's position is that he can offer no rational explanation of how Germany can be reunited once the step has been taken to create a German army in military alliance with NATO. Neither can the British, French, or American foreign offices. In fact, Germans are coming to the alarmed conclusion that the "peace of the powers," (or co-existence) is envisaged as resting on a final four-power agreement to maintain and respect the status quo. They are vividly aware that the truces in Korea and Indo-China were won at the cost of dividing these two nations.

An article which appeared New Years' Day in The London Times describing the international situation has been carefully studied and has furnished ammunition to the chancellor's opponents.

Commenting that the issue between West and East was still Germany, this article interpreted the French vote as opening "now at last the prospect of the final precipitation of Germany and Europe into two camps," and advocated that as soon as the treaties were ratified the West must take the initiative in convincing the Communist world of the sincerity of its desire to live and let live.

An official declaration in London characterized The Times editorial as expressing only the editor's view, and the editorial itself declared German reunification as the goal, saying it would come when the Soviets recognized that an equilibrium of power in Europe held the prospect for stability and peace. Germans noted that despite lip-service rendered, reunification and "equilibrium" also implied continuation of the status quo.

Can it continue? Is it conceivable that a German government and army can indefinitely commit the nation actually to defend the partition of the country? If, behind the scenes, the Western foreign offices are preparing to accept permanent German division as the price for "stability and peace," would that not constitute "containment" of a rump Germany, with a German army actually collaborating to police the condition? If so, how much popular support would such an army have? And unless it commands popular confidence what good is any army?

These questions can no longer be brushed off. Politically powerful groups and articulate and respected men in Germany, who by no stretch of imagination can be called "Communist," are raising them, as they have done in France. The Anglo-Saxon allies have so far managed to override both French and German opinion. It is no secret that the French vote was coerced by the dilemma of accepting what their reason rejected or shattering the Western alliance.

Often events impulsively initiated continue to propel themselves by the sheer weight of the diplomatic machinery set in motion. The rearmament of Germany was launched by Mr. Acheson in September, 1950, right off the cuff. Since then even strategic plans of how to meet a possible Russian attack on Europe have changed. The answer would be all-out atomic reprisal—and the Germans have no atomic weapons.

Thus the political stability of West Germany and France and the confidence of both countries in the United States are being sacrificed to 12 German divisions which, were war to come, would be worthless, but whose existence makes war more, rather than less, probable.

So, at least, argues the growing opposition in West Germany.

The 30-Hour Week

(From The Sydney Morning Herald)

ONE of the heaviest handicaps on Australian industry over the last seven years has been the practice of working an average week of 35 hours or less.

Many awards and statutory provisions cut into the nominal week of 40 hours and reduce it to less than 36 hours. A typical case, that of a large manufacturing company, showed that the time legally worked was 35 hours 33 minutes a week. But this was further reduced through time wasted by unpunctuality and slackness.

Time lost amounted to a further three hours a week, bringing the actual working week down to 32½ hours.

When the Arbitration Court awarded the 40-hour week in 1947, it emphasized that the order "implies that a full 40 hours should be worked in every case, less only prescribed or agreed remissions." The court severely criticized bad timekeeping and other laxities which had developed during and after the war. These, said the bench, "were now grown into habits, but they can be overcome."

The Arbitration Court expected that the introduction of the shorter week would result in a better spirit and an improved productive effort which would enable industry to "take the 40-hour week in its stride." Had employees generally taken the exhortations of the bench to heart, this optimism would in all probability be justified.

Mr. Justice Foster, however, ruefully surveying the results last September, said, "I confess I was a party to the court's 40-hour week decision, but I never anticipated that it would degenerate into a 30-hour week."

Fire the Lazy Students

(From The Brantford Expositor)

AT university if a student does not pay attention to business and get the required standings, out he or she goes, to make room for someone with the aptitude and application to win through to graduation.

Why should not the same principle be applied in the schools in the next layer down? Surely young men and women of high school age should have enough sense of responsibility and obligation to appreciate that they are not just going along for a social ride.

For no matter how indulgent or prejudiced their parents may be, the other taxpayers also have to foot the bill.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

The 1956 political conventions in the United States will be the first to be televised in color. It remains to be seen what effect this will have on a candidate's chances if his nomination is seconded by a man in a pink shirt.

A lady was entertaining the small son of a friend.

"Are you sure you can cut your own meat, Tommy?" she inquired.

"Oh, yes, thanks," answered the child politely. "I've often had it as tough as this at home."

A girl fresh from the West Highlands visited a sister living in Glasgow. At the outskirts of the city she stopped at a toll bar and began to rap smartly with her knuckles on the gate. The keeper, amused at the girl's action, and curious to know what she wanted, came out, when she very demurely interrogated him as follows:

"Is this Glesca?"

"Yes."

"Is Peggy in?"

A London physician suggests wiggling one's toes for a few minutes before getting up on cold mornings. The trick, of course, is to out-toe-wiggle your wife so that she'll get up and close the window.

* * *

"Why did you leave your girl's house so early last night?" asked one youth of another.

"Well," replied the other, "it was like this. We were sitting on the sofa and after we had talked for some time, she turned out the light. Guess I can take a hint."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

MOST of us believe that the highest compliment we can pay to a good cook is to ask for the recipe of some dish or pickle or sauce we have just eaten. Some years ago at a famous Washington seafood restaurant I was so taken with their tartare sauce for scallops that I asked for the recipe, which was promptly and courteously provided me. But at home, and at local restaurants to whom I gave the recipe, it never tasted the same. In my innocence, I did not understand I was treading on private ground; for on a subsequent visit to Washington, I mentioned the matter to the head waiter, and he looked at me with good clean American astonishment.

"Good heavens!" said he. "You didn't expect we'd give you the real recipe? Why, that's part of our stock in trade."

A friend of mine visiting one of those $40-a-day hotels in Florida this winter was greatly delighted with the French dressing he got on salads, and asked the head waiter if it were possible to obtain the recipe for it.

"Certainly, sir," said the grandee. "What is your room number? I shall have it sent to you."

There it was, that evening, in a nice envelope.

When he got his bill at the end of his stay, there was the item:

"Recipe for French dressing . . . $100."

Up in Waterloo County, in Ontario, there are many eating places which perpetuate the wonderful cookery the Pennsylvania Dutch, German and Mennonite pioneers brought with them a century ago. In one of these there was served a johnnycake so wonderful, it topped off a meal so scrumptious, that the ladies asked if they could possibly have the johnnycake recipe to take home.

The cook came out from the kitchen and, beaming, wrote the recipe on the back of a menu.

When we were leaving, he came out the back door with a cardboard box.

"A johnnycake to take home," he said, "so you can't go wrong!"

I guess it all depends where you are, when you ask for a recipe.

Letters to the Editor

Bridge to Nowhere

The people who blithely speak of keeping Ripple Rock to help with a bridge over Seymour Narrows know, of course, what this means.

Bridging Seymour Narrows does not land one in Stanley Park, for instance, but only on Quadra Island; from which there across Surge Narrows to Maurelle Island and then across the Yuloultas to Stuart Island, from which one could bridge the Arran Rapids to the Mainland above Bute Inlet.

Then, of course, one would have to bridge Bute, Toba and Jervis Inlets to finally reach Howe Sound; or, alternately, build a road around the heads of these inlets through the mountain range they cut into.

An alternate route would be from Seymour Narrows bridge across Quadra Island and by bridge to Maurelle Island, thence to Read Island, to the Rendezvous Islands, to Raza Island, to Redondo Islands and then (still building bridges) across a wide channel to the Mainland. This brings us south of Bute Inlet, so there remain only Toba and Jervis Inlets to negotiate from there on in. Someone really clever may be able to figure out a better route; and also the cost of such.

Then there is the theory that the rock can't be a menace to navigation or it would have been marked long ago. The lighthouse department (department of transport) has this coast so well buoyed and beaconed that it would gladly mark the rock if someone would only show it how. Try anchoring a boat on the fathom-and-a-half-deep rock at low tide and see what you think of it.

And, of course, the mariners who want it blasted out don't know what they are talking about; they only have to face its menace, and collect grey hairs regularly as they con their ships through.

What Brains!

I cannot understand why some people object to Victoria being called a Bit of Old England, as it was the people from that country who populated B.C. You only have to read the death notices every day to see that, and if it is an attraction to the visitors why worry. To me it once was a suburb of England, and dignified, but now . . . look at the buildings, library addition, post-office, miles to walk, and only one poor little letter box . . . what brains some people have!

And the policemen, it evidently doesn't cost any more to train a Canadian naval officer than it does a postman or policeman, so why not put them all in the same uniform. They all look alike now.

Race Traffic

I was glad to see a correspondent bring up the point about traffic in connection with the proposed race tracks.

When you consider the passenger and airport buses, people traveling back and forth to work, funerals, and tourist traffic, at speeds up to 50 miles an hour, no race track should be permitted adjacent to a speed highway.

We can all remember the congestion that occured when the track was at Colwood and we had nothing like the population and traffic we have now.

Drinking can also enter into the picture.

Traffic police will have to be used at important intersections as it will be almost impossible to cross at peak hours. I foresee many mishaps.

I am not against racing but I think a race track at Macaulay or Gorge Vale for instance—somewhere not reached via a speed highway—is desirable.

One human life is worth all the horse racing and it's not worth the price of the involved risk of using a speed highway.

Paul Michelin

I would like to pay a tribute to the late Paul Michelin, as one of his many friends who feel his passing is a great loss to the musical world.

There are many memories of his inspiring organ music in Vancouver theatres and over radio; his many recitals, given in the chapel at Lonsdale School, Shawnigan Lake, the Metropolitan Church in Victoria, the Odeon Theatre in Duncan, the United Church in Duncan; his summer concerts in Beacon Hill Park in Victoria, his concerts given weekly for the troops during the Second World War when artists such as John Charles Thomas appeared, and many others.

He was a great musician from the age of 12 when he first played in the Albert Hall in London. There are many other memories of his artistic talents—his clever accompanying of the late Clement May when he portrayed the works of Charles Dickens for a week at the Orpheum Theatre in Vancouver; not forgetting the exhibition of his pictures which hung in the Vancouver Art Gallery for a week.

I have several of his own recordings which I prize greatly. He was a true artist.

Senior Citizens

The imperative need is for formation of a Canadian national council for the aged, with a section in each province, and a unit in every city and town. This unit needs a central office, with trained staff, constructive plans, adequate finances to command contributions from philanthropic persons.

When a group, nation-wide, of able men and women of younger age closely co-operates with the aged, they can get support from federal, provincial and municipal governments. Then can be evolved a really imaginative program along housing lines, etc., co-operative houses, blocks, farms, even villages—with all the amenities—are thinkable.

Sporadic upsurges of generosity here and there will not suffice. There must be permanency, vision, determination, before solutions are thinkable.

Woman Awarded Half of Value Of Island Property

NANAIMO—Mrs. Myrtle Parkes of Seattle was awarded $3,000 by Mr. Justice H. F. Wood in Supreme Court yesterday. Mrs. Parkes claimed half the value of a Port Alberni property held in the name of herself and her husband as joint tenants.

Edward Ormbeim, Vancouver barrister, contended that since Mrs. Parkes had received other benefits she was not entitled to more than $2,000.

R. F. MacIssac, counsel for Mrs. Parkes, told the court that a sale had been arranged and that some years ago the husband had signed an agreement to give her half the net proceeds.

Court found that the agreement held good.

DUNCAN—Three motorists who were too anxious to find out where the fire was Sunday, will appear in police court on charges of failing to yield the right of way to the fire department.

Two of the charges will be heard Tuesday with the third scheduled for February 8. The charges came as a result of a chimney fire Sunday when the fire engine was impeded by heavy traffic.

* * *

CHEMAINUS — Cyril Seymour of Westholme was fined $50 and $4.50 costs when he was convicted in police court on a charge of dangerous driving.

Magistrate W. Bryant was told the accused man's car had crossed to the wrong side of the road and ended up on the railway embankment.

* * *

CAMPBELL RIVER—Protests of Campbell River residents have won a change in venue for the court of revision.

Originally it was planned to hold the court for the upper Island area at Courtenay, which is outside of School District 72. Campbell River Ratepayers Association wired a protest to the chief assessor in Victoria complaining their appellants would suffer hardship.

As a result the court will sit in Campbell River February 10, as well as in Courtenay.

Garage Sought for Ambulance

PORT ALBERNI—City council has given up the idea of housing the new city ambulance in the police station basement. Request of the city fathers was discouraged this week in a letter from Inspector C. Harvey, who pointed out various inconveniences of the setup.

He said the garage was too small and that the entrance door was too narrow. Council is seeking other accommodation.

* * *

NANAIMO — Recreation commission screened 44 applications for the job of full-time recreational director for Nanaimo at this week's meeting. Eight applications have been selected for further consideration.

* * *

GANGES — Alexander Robert Williamson of Ganges was fined $50 and costs in police court when he was convicted on a charge of impaired driving.

Council To Confer with Company

PORT ALBERNI—City council and representatives from MacMillan & Bloedel Ltd. will meet soon to discuss possibility of a new agreement regarding fixed assessments.

Council this week received a letter from B. F. Hoffmeister, company president, who expressed regret over an erroneous report that the city contemplated legal action in the matter. He said a meeting would be arranged at the convenience of both parties.

* * *

NANAIMO — William Branch of South Wellington, who was remanded in police court Monday on charges of impaired driving and pointing a gun at Felix Ainger, was found dead at his home yesterday morning.

Police said they believed death was suicide. A gun was found beside the body. Coroner H. W. Lewis has ordered an inquest to be held Monday.

DUNCAN — John Waldermer Routh, 56, an employee of Garner Builders' Supply, collapsed and died at work Wednesday. He came here from Edmonton, Alta., four years ago.

Funeral services will be held at 2.30 p.m. today from the Hirst Funeral Chapel with Rev. F. H. Golightly officiating. Burial will be in Mountain View Cemetery, Somenos.

He is survived by his widow, Kathleen; two daughters, Mrs. Kenneth Patterson of Duncan and Mrs. F. Cariss of Victoria; a brother, Huntley, Edmonton; and a stepbrother, Victor Vickars, Montreal; a step-sister, Mrs. C. Gorrie, Brockville, Ont., and one granddaughter.

Plans Set To Aid Striking ITU Men

PORT ALBERNI—Plans for assisting the striking members of the International Typographical Union here were made by the Alberni District Joint Labor Council this week.

The council, with affiliates from both AFL and CIO unions in the district, will sponsor a broadcast over the local radio station in which a speaker from the ITU will outline the history of the present strike affecting the West Coast Advocate.

Two union members of the weekly paper went on strike January 13 and have continued to picket the plant ever since.

The labor council also voted to assist in the distribution of ITU pamphlets and to give aid in picketing if necessary.

A spokesman for the council said the strike is "morally and legally justified." He called on all residents to give support to the strikers and to honor the picket line.

Government Promises Float, Wharf Repairs

CAMPBELL RIVER—Village commissioners were told this week the federal government will repair floats at fishermen's dock and the federal wharf during the next few weeks. Teredos have attacked many planks and the decking.

Commercial fishermen using the floats recently asked for a power connection on the slot-meter basis but B.C. Power Commission is not too keen on the idea.

The commission said it would only supply a meter at the wharf and that the village would be responsible for the installation of other necessary fixtures. It was feared that trouble might result as any connection when uhooked could be left in the water.

Leonard D. Rossiter was reappointed to the town planning commission for a new term of three years. Commission will hold special meeting this month to consider the extension of the boundary at the south end of the village.

They will also consider the residential zoning of property near the new hospital site.

Many dog owners have failed to renew dog licenses this year and Poundkeeper W. Frieberg will go from door to door selling the licenses.

A notice of motion was made to consider the scale of licenses for beer parlors and cocktail bars.

Proposed Forest License Called End of Small Outfits

A delegation of small logging operators and unionists told the provincial cabinet yesterday that granting a forest management license to B.C. Forest Products in the Port Alberni area would wipe out all independent operators or force them to sub-contract.

Representatives of the Coast Small Operators' Association and Local 1-85, International Woodworkers of America, presented a brief to the cabinet hearing on the proposed license.

They said that sub-contracting for a large company would subject them to the companies' "direction, control and marketing."

In addition, delegates said, logging operations in the area "will cease completely until such time as the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. decides to utilize the area" in four years.

They said the Clayoquot public working circle will be enveloped by the management license area.

Small operators, the brief states, "now find themselves in the danger of being betrayed because of the timber previously promised to the public passing into the control of an individual company."

"The Tofino Highway, which has been promised for over 40 years, will be controlled by the large logging operators and subject to their regulations," the brief said.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Thirteen women and one man were drowned in the Die Channel of Portugese India when their boat capsized, it was announced yesterday.

Not Getting Proper Attention, Says Giovando

Nanaimo MLA Recommends Division of Riding into Two Parts

A Vancouver Island MLA asked yesterday that his own riding be divided into two parts and the new section given separate representation in the B.C. legislature.

Dr. Larry Giovando, former Conservative MLA for the Nanaimo and Islands constituency who has since become an Independent, said that the people of the Gulf Islands and James Island do not receive "the proper attention required from their elected representative."

He said he would regret losing the Islands section of his riding, but at present it was impossible for him to give the residents of this part "the attention they deserve."

Dr. Giovando made only a brief reference to his decision last year to bolt the Conservative Party in B.C. and sit as an independent member. He said his duties were not to come to Victoria "to endeavor to rectify internal strife in any political party. He did not use the term "conservative" at any time.

"I owe allegiance to the members of my constituency and to the province of British Columbia, and for this reason I turned independent—and it is my intention to finish my term as an independent," he said during debate.

The Nanaimo member praised the government for work it had done in his own riding, for various policies expressed in the Throne Speech and for purchase of the Lions Gate Bridge.

He reiterated his former opposition to the 10 per cent tax on the lumber and mining industry in B.C.

He called the assessment equalization program "the thin edge of the wedge" which would enable municipalities to load more property taxes on ratepayers in the future.

"I would like assurance from the premier that he will protect old-age pensioners, welfare cases and people living on low incomes in regard to this matter," Dr. Giovando said.

Turning to his favorite theme of fish and game, he urged that control be taken from the attorney-general's department and placed under a separate ministry which would include parks and recreation and the tourist industry. (The former is now under forestry and the latter under the trade and industry department.)

Total revenue in 1953 from the sale of resident and non-resident fishing and hunting licenses was $14,865,700.

On the question of drug tribution of drugs to addicts traffic, Dr. Giovando advocated through a government clinic to the British system of free dis- remove the profit motive.

Pair Honored By Burns Club

LADYSMITH — Burns Club of Ladysmith honored two of the senior members, Jack Rodger and Roger Wright, at the 50th anniversary supper held recently.

Mr. Rodger is the oldest active member while Mr. Wright resigned last year as secretary after more than 40 years continuous service.

Mr. Rodger, too overcome to say anything, said: "I canna speak."

'King of the Safecrackers'

After Long Wait Perfect Setup Appears

(The author, a Canadian who from being a minister of the Gospel became "King of the Safecrackers" in the United States, now lives quietly, having paid for his years of wrongdoing, right among us on Vancouver Island. He tells of further criminal exploits in Chapter X today.

BY HERBERT EMERSON WILSON

(Copyright, Canada, 1955, by Herbert Emerson Wilson and The Daily Colonist)

Sitting in a dentist's chair one afternoon, I looked across the street into a window of the Fifth Street Store in Los Angeles. What I saw made me forget my toothache. Beside a huge old fashioned safe two men and a woman were counting what looked like bales of folding money.

Losing no time, I crossed to the store and made some excuse to stand at the cashier's wicket long enough to study the box. One of the original settlers must have brought it out.

However, we went through our usual careful casing until, on a night in March, we were ready. I had a funny hunch about this mark, and it turned out 2 was right.

One of the men working with me that night was a new one, a fellow named Walter Lacey from Toledo. I was all ready to blow the box when I was brought up short by those three buzzes. As I waited, I heard a gunshot.

Racing to the stair well, I met Cox coming up, two at a time.

"It's that fool Lacey, he said. "One of the guards got loose and Lacey, who's all hopped up, took a shot at him."

"Kill him?" I asked.

"No, but the guard popped into one of the elevators."

With that, an elevator door near us opened and the guard's head showed.

Before I could cover him, he vanished again and the elevator went down. Finding one of us ready for him at each floor, he finally got smart and stopped the car between floors.

Running back to the cashier's office, I blew the safe in a hurry, expecting cops to come any second to investigate that shot.

That was a real haul—so big we had to steal four suitcases from the store to carry it away. Usually we ignored the coins because they're awkward and heavy to carry, but that night we took along $10,000 in silver besides the bills and bonds.

When we were dividing the score that night at Cox's cottage, I stuffed $5,000 of the silver into a grip and gave it to Lacey.

"Here's your cut," I told him. "Now beat it, and I don't want to see you again."

We took quite a few more stores after that one: Hale Brothers in San Francisco and Whitthorne and Swan in Oakland among them. Herb and I both liked store jobs. I enjoyed wandering through the building, when we had time, sort of window shopping from the inside with no clerks or other customers to bother me.

Bullock's big store in Los Angeles was about due on our list, but we were sidetracked.

Helen Gillespie and I were in a bank one day, on straight business, when I noticed a messenger pick up a fat bundle of currency and, followed by an armed guard, walk out to an armored car in the street. I sent Helen to tail them.

When we met again, Helen said the money had been taken to the registration section of a sub-post office near a railway station for shipment to some bank outside the city. Another visit to that sub-post-office was indicated.

Hanging around there, we finally saw a big mail truck pull away without escort car, and we followed it to the station. There the young fellows in the truck unloaded mailbag after mailbag, all with the blue stripe and the padlock that spelled C-A-S-H.

This looked like what I'd been waiting for. After some years of close study, hard work, nerves and a 20-way split of the score, here was something for the taking before it got into any safe or vault. The way I saw it, two or three scores and I could quit. I was getting jumpy, anyway.

Helen was all for it too, so I called a meeting of the mob and told them to forget places like Bullock's store—that now we were going to rob the mails.

We kept, of course, to our usual careful casing. Days of tailing messengers from different banks, and of keeping watch over that same sub-post office, showed that the first truck we'd followed (I remember its number so well, 3324,) was our best bet. It almost always carried the big cash load, timed to reach the Santa Fe station just before the 8.30 p.m. train pulled out.

Next we picked our spot—a corner where a railway crossing was controlled by safety gates run from a tower by an old watchman. Those gates were the key to the whole setup.

Came the day, and we parked our two cars, two blocks from the crossing corner, with the motors running. Joe Bertsch and a hood named Stahl were in one, my brother Lou and I in the other. Herb Cox was standing in the shadow of the gateman's tower. Helen was drinking coffee with the beat cop in a cafe six blocks away.

Right on schedule, along came the mail truck and I blinked my headlights. On the signal, Cox ran up into the tower, flashed a badge on the old watchman, and told him to lower the gates.

"I'm a federal man," he said, "and we're trapping a bunch of crooks."

The old man didn't argue. Down came the gates, the mail truck driver jammed on his brakes—and found himself jammed between our two cars.

Joe and Stahl jumped into the mail truck, threw their guns on the men inside, and ordered them away. We followed, while Cox thanked the watchman. It had taken two minutes.

On a deserted street we handcuffed the truck driver and his helper to their truck, switched the bags to our car, and took off for Cox's cottage on West 42nd Place. An all-night count added up to almost $500,000.

We had cash, negotiable bonds and securities. It was the gravy train—we thought!

Fare Appeal February 16

The appeal of Vancouver city against fare increases granted to the British Columbia Electric Co. last September will be heard in the B.C. Court of Appeal, February 16-18.

The fare boosts were allowed by the Public Utilities Commission following public hearings. No increase was granted in Greater Victoria.

Four Men Ask Juvenile Post

Applications of Constables Walter Caldwell, T. H. Smith, John T. Duncan and Lyle D. Somers for the position of juvenile officers were received Wednesday by the city police commission.

Constable Somers, who succeeded former juvenile officer Arthur Rudge, and the other applicants, will be given oral and written examinations before a final selection is made.

With deepest regret we announce the death of Mr. W. L. (Wally) Williams, long and affectionately known and respected by many friends in the Saanich Peninsula.

WHATEVER HAPPENED TO DIPHTHERIA?
As a result of modern drugs and methods many illnesses and diseases, dreaded a few years ago, are today almost unheard of. For example: Diphtheria, Scarlet Fever, etc., have been reduced 90%. Mastoid infection was prevalent and dangerous. Today even the epileptic, diabetic and pernicious anemia sufferers are living fairly normal lives. Diseases that plagued mankind are slowly disappearing as research on new drugs continues.
Recovery, too, is quicker, with less damage to the body—operations are often avoided, days lost from work are few . . . and the chance of survival is greatly increased.
That is why your Cunningham Pharmacist takes such great pride and pains with your prescription . . . He is able to pass on to you these great advancements which make modern medication The Greatest Value for Your Dollar.

SPORTS REVUE

By Jimmy Cannon

This is one I don't like to do. It's not a favor, because I'm being paid to write six columns a week and this is part of my job. But I promised Ray Robinson I'd do it and so here it is. It may seem cruel, but I don't intend it to be that way. There is no language on the face of the earth in which you can be kind when you tell a man he is old and should stop pretending he's young.

Sugar Ray asked me to do it. Times change and so do men, and he has a right to tell me I'm wrong. But if I didn't do it, exactly this way, trying not to be fancy about it and just getting it down, I'd be welshing. If he hadn't urged me to do it, this wouldn't be a difficult piece. Because Robinson anticipated it and asked me to protect him from himself. I feel I'm mixed up in it.

There must be pity in it and that's nasty. This is a guy who enjoyed being a great fighter more than anyone I know. He is a conceited man but that was part of his skill, too. He never used it on me, but he turned it on a lot of guys and that accounts for some of his unpopularity in the fight racket.

Anyway, there was always fear in Robinson that it would happen this way. It was the fear of being ridiculed that haunted him the day at Pompton Lakes, N.J., before the second Randy Turpin fight that made him tell me it would be a friendly act if I became brutally honest when I thought he was fighting beyond his time. There isn't a pug he ever fought who could put fear in Robinson, because he was a great fighter and being flashily secure was also part of the talent. It was going bad that frightened him and gracelessly taking lickings from guys like Tiger Jones who beat him up last week. Anyway, that's the way I figure it.

* * *

Of course, Sugar Ray will resent this but I'm keeping the bargain. None in any field can take it. Old fighters, who go beyond the limits of their age, resent it when you tell them they're through. It never sounds reasonable.

The people quit on them and so do the promoters. The money gets smaller and they bore people or they just fade into the oblivion of the losers. Ask Beau Jack or remember Benny Leonard or get Joe Louis to tell you about it. There's no place to go and so they stop and they think they did it themselves.

What made Robinson great will also hurt him now. Don't let the clothes or the big cars fool you. He is a fighter who goes as far as he can and he will stand up under it because that's the way he is. He'll last if he can and try to make it a fight and that's no good at his age. He's been hoofing and the life of a night-club performer is soft and what Sugar Ray had is gone.

The pride isn't. The gameness isn't. The insolent faith in himself is still there. It has to be or he would have said the hell with it after what Jones did to him. He knows more about his racket than any fighter I've ever talked to and he can explain it, too. But the pride and the gameness and that insolent faith get in his way. He could show you why if it was someone else. But this is Sugar Ray Robinson and he shies away from the truth.

* * *

It was always with him, that it might happen this way. It's in all of them, but Ray talked about it more. There is admiration in him for all good fighters. The dogs turned his stomach. The awkward disgusted him. The cuties delighted him if they were clever enough and were brave about it like Fritzie Zivic.

Some he disliked and there were others I knew he hated. But, if they had it, Robinson knew it and praised them. He was great and he accepted that, and why shouldn't he? No one was thrilled more by good fighters and he was great.

There was a time when he made a bad fight and would sit down with me and describe what he had done wrong. He also would tell me why he did it and, toward the end, before he temporarily retired, he admitted he was past his prime. He coldly stated he had blown most of it, but he still had enough for the guys around. That was true then but it isn't now. It's gone and he can't get it back and strong guys will humiliate him and he'll become disfigured if he keeps at it.

* * *

I wonder if Ray recollects what he said about Tony Canzoneri one night in Lindy's?

"He was great," Robinson said. "But he fought too long and people remember his last fights and forget how great he was."

Ray was marvelous, but he isn't any more. That's no disgrace, either. The years did it to him and not Tiger Jones but the records don't include such information. He must know how bad he was with Jones because there were nights when he was perfect. He knows and so do I, and he's kidding no one.

It's up to Robinson. I've done what I said I would.

Rangers Tie Wings; Bruins Down Hawks

HOW THEY STAND

New York	49	12	24	13	105	138	37
Chicago	47	8	29	10	102	164	28

Last night's scores: New York 3 at Detroit 3, Chicago 2 at Boston 5.

Next games: Saturday: Boston at Montreal; New York at Toronto; Detroit vs. Chicago at St. Louis.

Detroit Red Wings gained a point on the leading Montreal Canadiens in last night's National Hockey League but the Stanley Cup champions actually tossed a point out the window, losing a 3-1 lead as the fifth-place New York Rangers managed a 3-3 tie.

In the other game, Boston Bruins gained another point in their tussle with the Rangers for the fourth playoff spot by trimming the trailing Chicago Black Hawks, 5-2.

Vic Howe, younger brother of Detroit's Gordie, scored the tying goal at New York. It was his first NHL goal of the season and it came on a 65-foot screened shot.

Earlier, the Wings had forged a two-goal lead as Bill Dineen, Glen Skov and Dutch Reibel scored for them and Pete Conacher for the Rangers. Then Danny Lewicki brought the Rangers within one goal midway through the final period with his 22nd scoring shot of the season. It also came on a screened shot with Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk getting a couple of bad breaks.

WORSLEY STARS

Lorne Worsley was a star for the Rangers, making 31 saves out of 34 while the Rangers could only get 21 shots away at Sawchuk.

At Boston, left-winger Lorne Ferguson stole the spotlight with a hat-trick for the Bruins.

He got the big first goal in the early seconds of the first period, made it 3-0 later in the same period, and then climaxed his biggest night of the season after the rallying Hawks had made it 4-2 in the third period.

It was a big evening for former WHL players. In addition to Worsley, Vic Howe and Reibel, who also had an assist, three other ex-WHL players turned in fine games. Ron Murphy of the Rangers and Marcel Bonin of the Wings each assisted on two goals while Allan Stanley scored once for the Hawks. Lou Fontinato, back with the Rangers, picked up a penalty.

Quakers Aid Cougars By Blanking Canucks

HOW THEY STAND

	GP	W	L	T	GF	GA	Pts.
Edmonton	44	28	10	6	170	128	60
N. Westminster	50	23	20	7	175	196	53
Calgary	48	23	19	6	187	174	52

Vancouver	46	16	24	6	129	149	40
Saskatoon	49	14	30	5	148	183	33

Last night's score: Vancouver 0 at Saskatoon 3.

Next games, tomorrow: VICTORIA at New Westminster; Vancouver at Edmonton; Saskatoon at Calgary.

Saskatoon Quakers, who have been making things tough for the Victoria Cougars of late, gave the Islanders a big hand last night when they continued their improved play to blank Vancouver Canucks, 3-0, before 3,500 Saskatoon fans.

It was the only Western Hockey League action of the night but the result may have an important bearing on the battle for playoff spots. The Canucks remained eight points behind Victoria but they now have only three games in hand. And they have the tougher assignment tomorrow night, when the Cougars play at New Westminster and Vancouver makes another trip to Edmonton, where the Flyers will be out to reverse the result of Wednesday's 6-3 setback.

CANUCKS TIRED

Canucks were outplayed last night with the players showing the strain of three games in as many nights. They could only level 14 shots, and only two in the last period, at goalie Bev Bentley, who scored his third shutout of the season, all of them in the last five home games for the Quakers. At the other end, Vancouver's Johnny Bower had 32 shots to handle.

Veteran Max Bentley, with a well-placed shot from the blue line, opened the scoring late in the first period. Just over two minutes later, rookie Dick Lamoureux whipped in his 17th goal. The third goal, from the stick of Vic Lynn, came late in the second period with Canucks a man short.

Quakers had Jack Evans back on defense in place of Lou Fontinato, who moved back to New York Rangers and took Evans' vacated spot. Evans assisted on the final goal.

Victory moved Saskatoon within seven points of fifth place but the Quakers are still 15 points behind the Cougars and with but 21 games left in which to make up that huge deficit, have little chance of getting into the four-team, post-season playdowns.

Vancouver—Goal: Bower; defense: Lancien, Reeve, Dick, Hudson; forwards: Maloney, Ezinicki, Barlow, Johnson, Ashworth, Cyr, Brown, Wylie, Ford.

Saskatoon—Goal: B. Bentley; defense: Ross, Milford, Evans, Kaiser; forwards: Konussen, McLeod, Manson, Haley, Lamoureux, Kukulowicz, M. Bentley, Kullman, Lynn, D. Bentley.

First Period—1. Saskatoon, M. Bentley (Kullman, Kaiser) 13.03. 2. Saskatoon, Lamoureux (Haley, Evans) 15.18. Penalty—Ezinicki 2.28.

Second Period—3. Saskatoon, Lynn (Ross) 14.18. Penalties—Dick 10.27, Hudson 11.36, Milford 17.24.

Third Period—No scoring. No penalties.

Stops: Bower 10, 9, 10—29; Bentley 7, 5, 2—14.

U.S. Pair Takes Title

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—Tony Trabert and Vic Seixas won the Australian national doubles tennis championship today by beating Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall in a five-set struggle 6-3, 6-2, 2-6, 3-6, 6-1, and became the first Americans to win the Australian doubles crown in 22 years.

Pros on Birdie Binge In Palm Springs Meet

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UP)—Thirty-nine of the 42 professionals competing shot par or better in the first round of the $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Pro-Amateur Tournament Thursday as veteran Johnny Palmer showed the way with a 10-under par 62.

Palmer, playing the finest golf of his career since the first of the year, had only a one-stroke lead over the fine field of the par-busting brigade which tore apart links in Los Angeles and San Diego continued its onslaught here.

MAYFIELD NEXT

Palmer fired a 32-30 in his fine round—to gain a one-shot lead over Shelley Mayfield, who mastered the 6,700-yard Thunderbird Country Club layout with a 34-29—63.

There was a six-way tie for first place in the pro-amateur division, each with a best ball of 56. These foursomes were headed by professionals Tommy Bolt, Byron Nelson, J. R. Jacobs of England, Marty Furgol, Bobby Rosburg and Palmer.

First place in the pro division is worth $2,000, and the pro-member in the winning pro-amateur division gets $1,000.

Palmer who finished second at San Diego, fourth at Los Angeles and in the money at Pebble Beach in the Bing Crosby tournament, already has won $3,000 in prize money this month.

There were four men who shot 66: British National Open champion Peter Thomson, of Australia; Jim Turnesa, Mike Souchak and Wally Ulrich.

The 67 Bracket included veteran Byron Nelson, Lloyd Mangrum, Doug Ford, Buddy Holscher, Bobby Rosburg, Dutch Harrison, Gene Littler and Bo Wininger.

Tommy Bolt, winner of last week's San Deigo Open, had a 68 and so did Jimmy Demaret.

Like most professionals with a good score, Palmer figured what he "might had had" with a little more luck today.

On the sixth, eighth, ninth and 18th holes his putts rimmed the cup. If they had all gone in Johnny conceivably could have come in with a 58.

Despite his great round he failed to break the course record. That is held by Bo Wininger, Oklahoma City, who carded a 29-30-61 in this same tourney last year.

Mayfield had nine birdies. On his sensational back nine of 29 he started out with three birds in a row; followed with two pars; then finished off with four birdies.

Oak Bay Meets Varsity; JBAA Hosts Vindex XV

Oak Bay Wanderers will be seeking their third victory when they travel to Vancouver tomorrow to meet Varsity in their final Miller inter-city rugby competition.

The match, scheduled to get under way at 2 p.m., will be televised over CBUT.

In local action Saturday, James Bay Athletic Association, which has completed its Miller Cup schedule, will host Vancouver Vindex at Macdonald Park. Game time is 2.30.

Two matches are carded for second division teams. JBAA will clash with Victoria College at 2.30 in a league game on the lower Macdonald Park pitch while Shawnigan Lake Boys' School will host HMCS Naden in an exhibition contest at 3 p.m.

University School's midget team will travel to Shawnigan Lake for a game starting at 2 while Oak Bay will meet Glenlyon School in another midget game scheduled at Windsor Park at 2.

COLWOOD WINNERS

Miss Margaret Mahoney recorded a score of 65 4/9 to top the silver division in a women's "throw-out" competition held Thursday afternoon at the Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. W. S. John won the bronze division with a score of 53 1/3.

Big Four Threatens To Toss Out Argos Over No-Raiding Pact

NEW YORK (CP) — The president of the Big Four said Thursday it may be necessary to take the Toronto franchise away from the present operators unless they agree to co-operate with the rest of the league in a no-raiding pact with U.S. pro football.

Ralph Cooper, president of the Big Four, and Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, called a press conference to explain the status of their peace negotiations.

They appeared a lot closer to an agreement that previous reports had indicated. They had tried but failed in a meeting last Saturday in Philadelphia. Toronto Argonauts had refused to go along with the retroactive clause of a no-raiding proposal, which would hit them hard since it would prevent them from stocking their depleted ranks with established American pros.

The Argos, who finished third in the four-team league last season, have announced they have offered contracts to seven NFL players and are negotiating with others. One of the peace terms Bell wants is agreement by clubs in both leagues that all such deals be cancelled with the players returning to their former clubs.

The Argonauts, who have said they do not plan to rehire the American players on their 1954 roster, then would be crippled in their plans to rebuild.

The NFL has given Bell full authority to conclude a no-raiding agreement with the Canadian leagues.

BIG PROBLEM LEFT

Cooper told a press conference he is returning to Canada to get similar authority from his club owners and then they'll meet again to thrash out one more big problem. That is the status of players signed by Canadian or U.S. teams while they were under contract or option to a team in the other country.

"If Toronto is not willing to go along with the rest of the league, then it may be necessary to make other arrangements about the franchise. There are two or three groups in Toronto anxious to get the team and operate the club in co-operation with the rest of the league," Cooper said.

Both Cooper and Bell said pro football might become an international sport if such an agreement was reached. They said it probably would lead to international games, played half with Canadian and half with American rules.

Members of the Big Four are Toronto, Hamilton, Montreal and Ottawa. Toronto is operated by the Argonaut Rowing Club.

Cooper said Hamilton, Ottawa and Montreal are anxious to reach an accord with the NFL on contracts and options which are similar in both circuits.

Any restitution for boundaries already crossed probably would be retroactive to July, 1954, Cooper added.

VOTED FOR PEACE

The Western Interprovincial Football Union already has voted unanimously to make peace with the NFL. But some members later termed the vote "just good propaganda."

Thursday, before the NFL held its annual draft, Bell told the league directors that if they picked a player already signed by a Canadian team that player must be allowed to go to Canada should a no-raiding pact be signed.

"We want peace with honor, peace with integrity," he said.

"But if no peace is made," the commissioner added, then it will be up to the National League club that chooses the player "to battle it out with the Canadians."

In Toronto, Bill Ross, president of the Argonauts, said again Thursday night the Big Four club will stick by its policy to play the National Football League players they have signed for the 1955 season.

He reiterated the Argos won't back down from their import policy and declined to make any other comment but that "we'll just have to wait and see" what happens at a Big Four executive meeting this week end.

Earlier this week Ross said the club is prepared to play its games under protest from the other Big Four clubs and is ready for the possibility that Montreal, Hamilton and Ottawa might refuse to meet them unless Argos change their stand.

The Argonaut's president did not indicate then what the Toronto team will do if the decision is taken to throw the club out of the league. He added:

"We are quite prepared to deal with the situation when and if it comes up. We will play football."

Ross said Thursday the Argonauts had signed seven NFL players. It was reported earlier that the number was eight but Ross said one of the players had asked not to be held to his contract and the Argonauts had agreed.

Montreal Praises Bert Bell

MONTREAL (BUP) — Ted Workman, principal owner of the Montreal Alouettes Thursday praised the National Football League for displaying "goodwill . . . and keeping its word."

Workman's comments followed a statement by NFL commissioner Bert Bell to American club owners before the NFL draft in New York. Bell announced the names of six U.S. college players already signed by Canadian football interests and warned the NFL to honor the contracts.

"I only wish we could say the same thing," he added, an obvious reference to Argonauts, who signed at least eight NFL players under option to the NFL and refused to give them up.

Lions Ready To Play In Two-Team League

VANCOUVER (CP)—British Columbia Lions, who won one game in the Western Interprovincial Football Union last year, announced Thursday they would not give back United States pros already under contract this year.

Return of any United States players selected by American teams in the forthcoming draft has been made a condition for any cease fire between the U.S. National Football League and Canadian teams.

"We won't give back pros we've signed no matter what peace the WIFU and Bell make," Lions' coach Annis Stukus said. "If necessary, we'll play the Argos all season long."

President Don Mackenzie backed up his coach.

Lions, in their first season last year, battled with the NFL in signing several top U.S. players, some of whom were under previous contract to NFL clubs. Notable among these were Arnie Weinmeister, Lauri Niemi and Al Pollard.

Shaw Bonus Pick In Pro Grid Draft

NEW YORK (UP) — George Shaw of Oregon, a wiry T-formation quarterback who led the nation in ground-gaining last season, was chosen over all-American Ralph Guglielmi of Notre Dame Thursday as the Baltimore Colts' bonus choice in the annual National Football League draft of college players.

The Colts, who won only three out of 12 NFL games during the 1954 season, won Shaw in the special four-team bonus lottery which preceded the regular draft. Then, making the third selection in the regular draft which followed, Baltimore chose fullback Alan (The Horse) Ameche of Wisconsin, voted the United Press player of the year for 1954. The Colts thus drafted two of the most-highly sought backs in the college crop.

CARDS TAKE BOYDSTON

Following the bonus selection, the Chicago Cardinals, who compiled the poorest record in the league last year, started the regular draft by picking Max Boydston, Oklahoma's all-America end. The Washington Redskins, whose 1954 won-lost record matched that of the Colts, then won the toss of a coin for next and selected Guglielmi, whom many had thought would be the bonus choice.

Then, drafting in inverse order of their finish in the league race, the clubs made the following No. 1 choices: The Green Bay Packers picked guard Tom Bettis of Purdue; the Pittsburgh Steelers, tackle Frank Varrichione of Notre Dame; the Los Angeles Rams, centre Larry Morris of Georgia Tech; the New York Giants, halfback Joe Heap of Notre Dame; the Philadelphia Eagles fullback Dick Bielski of Maryland; the San Francisco 49ers, all-America halfback Dick Moegle of Rice; the Chicago Bears, halfback Ron Drazwiecki of Marquette; the Detroit Lions, halfback Dave Middleton of Auburn; and the champion Cleveland Browns, with last choice, took all-America centre Kurt Burris of Oklahoma.

The Colts, however, will have to out-bid professional baseball teams for Shaw's services. Shaw, a star outfielder at Oregon, was voted to the NCAA coaches' all-America team in 1954 and is regarded a pro prospect.

At Eugene, Ore., he said he would "be happy to play for Baltimore—if I decide to play professional football."

"I don't plan to sign anything until after the college baseball season," he said.

In making some of their choices, National League clubs ignored a warning from commissioner Bert Bell that six players on the eligible draft list already have signed with Canadian football teams. Bell explained that any U.S. team claiming them in today's draft did so at the risk of not being permitted to sign them under the proposed new "no-raiding" agreement that soon may be concluded with Canada.

Despite this, the Browns chose quarterback Bob Freeman of Auburn on the third round and centre Jack Locklear, also of Auburn, on the seventh, while the Bears went for halfback Hank Moseley of Morris Brown in the sixth round.

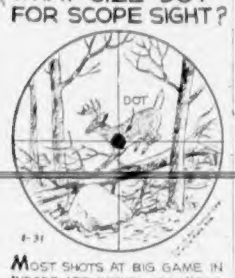
WHAT SIZE DOT FOR SCOPE SIGHT?



MOST SHOTS AT BIG GAME IN WOODS ARE WITHIN 100 YARDS AND MUST BE QUICK. A 6" DOT IN A 2½-POWER SCOPE, OR A 4" DOT IN 4-POWER SCOPES ARE QUICKER TO USE THAN A SMALLER DOT. LEST YOU THINK A 6" DOT TOO LARGE, REMEMBER IT WILL COVER ONLY ABOUT ⅓ OF A BUCK'S CHEST AT 100 YDS. FOR LONG-RANGE SHOTS IN OPEN COUNTRY, USE 4" OR 3" DOTS.

FOR SQUIRRELS, USE A 2" DOT. IT COVERS 1" AT 50 YDS.

Toronto Ups Chances Of Big League Berth

TORONTO (BUP) — Almost everybody agreed Thursday that Toronto had taken "a giant stride" in deciding to enlarge Maple Leaf Stadium to seat 39,000 baseball fans, but there was belief in some circles that the move came too late to get a major league franchise before 1957.

Even at that far-off date the chances appeared to rest only on a realignment of the National and American Leagues, or the establishment of a third league proposed by Commissioner Ford Frick.

The board of control started the ball rolling when it approved a civic sports committee recommendation Wednesday that the city underwrite a $1,750,000 debenture issue necessary for the enlargement.

Jack Kent Cooke, president of the International League Leafs who use the 18,000-seat stadium, commented immediately:

NO GUARANTEES

"Construction can start six weeks after city council issues the debentures. It could be completed in plenty of time for the 1956 baseball season. We have no guarantee we will acquire a big league franchise, but chances are excellent that we will. In any event, the stadium is the only possible first step."

At Detroit last night, President Walter O. (Spike) Briggs of the American League Tigers said Toronto's chances for a franchise had never been better —six months ago.

"If Toronto had made its decision to enlarge the stadium before the last meeting of the American League in Philadelphia last fall," he said, "then the Athletics' franchise would have gone there instead of to Kansas City."

CLUBS OPPOSED SHIFT

Several American League clubs opposed shifting the A's to the Missouri City because of owner Arnold Johnson's connections with the New York Yankees.

At Chicago, general manager Frank Lane of the White Sox agreed with Briggs. He said there appeared little likelihood of a franchise becoming available in either circuit for some time.

"Toronto's hopes would seem to rest on the leagues increasing their membership to 10 teams as proposed by Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians," Lane said. "There is a possibility that could be effected as early as next year, but it's not likely to happen—if it does —before 1957."

Both Briggs and Lane lauded the city's move, however, and agreed it is the first step to eventually moving to the majors.

ADDITIONAL SEATS

Vincent Reid, chairman of the sports committee pushing the plan, said the enlargement also would provide a seating capacity of 42,000 for football games. A temporary stand near the east bleachers would add the additional 3,370 seats during the grid season.

The seating capacity of the enlarged Maple Leaf Stadium would surpass a number of present major league parks, including: Fenway Park, Boston (34,824); Connie Mack Stadium, Philadelphia (33,166); Griffith Stadium, Washington (27,523); Ebbets Field, Brooklyn (31,902); Wrigley Field, Chicago (36,755); Crosley Field, Cincinnati (29,583); Forbes Field, Pittsburgh (34,249), and Busch Stadium, St. Louis (30,500).

New Rules Get Test As Kins Meet UBC

An experiment with rule changes, designed to speed up the game of basketball and eliminate many unnecessary delays caused by frequent whistle-blowing and timeouts, will be tried at the Central Junior High School gym Saturday night.

The rule suggestions were made by Harold Turner, former coach of KV teams, and Russ Atkinson, president of the Victoria and District Basketball Association. Concerned over the increasing delays in game, the two men got together recently and drew up a list of suggested rules that they think would speed up play considerably.

TWO GAMES SET

Saturday night, two games have been scheduled at the new Central gym and the teams will play under the suggested rules. Individuals and Vampires of the district league's senior "B" men's league, will meet in the opener at 7.30 while Vic Van Isle Kins, who meet Vancouver Eilers for the B.C. senior women's championship next month, tangle with University of British Columbia women at 8.30.

The suggested rules, which will be tried for the first time in Victoria Sunday, are:

1. Only deliberate fouls will be called by the referees and the player who is fouled will receive only one shot at all times.

2. When a foul is called, the player will not take the shot at that time but wait until the end of the quarer when all foul shots will be taken. This rule will apply only to the first three quarters with the final quarter reverting back to the regular system of shooting fouls when they have been called.

3. No timeouts will be allowed at any time during the game, but the game will be divided into four, 10-minute quarters. A change in rules this year eliminated quarters and divived the game into 20-minute halfs.

4. As there will be no timeouts or foul shots during the first three quarters, substitutions can be made when the team has possession of the ball for a throw-in.

5. If a team does not take a shot on the basket within 24 seconds after gaining possession of the ball, it will be penalized.

Fans who attend Saturday night's games will be handed a questionnaire and will be asked to suggest any rule changes that they think would speed up the game.

"Many fans are tired of the frequent stops," Turner said yesterday. "These rules may help to bring 40 minutes of sustained action."

SID SMITH

Durable Leaf Winger Enjoying Best Season

BY GERRY LOUGHEED

TORONTO (CP) — Underrated by many National Hockey League fans and a few of its executives Sid Smith of Toronto Maple Leafs has broken out into full bloom.

His chances of being named to the all-star left-wing berth are good. The prospects of scoring at least 30 goals this season are better.

Now in his sixth full season with the Leafs, Smith has been over-shadowed by his linemates during much of that time.

TIP-IN EXPERT

Blessed with lightning reflexes which make him deadly on goalmouth rebounds and one of the fastest skaters in the game, Smitty has scored at least 20 goals a season over the last five years.

His peak production came in the 1950-51 season, 30 goals and 21 assists for 51 points.

A consistently clean player, Smith gained a measure of prominence in 1952 when he scored 57 points and won the Lady Byng Memorial Trophy, which goes to the player showing a top degree of sportsmanship and gentlemanly conduct combined with a high standard of playing ability.

A perennial joker off duty, Smitty sticks strictly to business on the ice and has picked up only 37 minor penalties in 342 regular NHL games. He is the "iron man" among present players, playing 361 consecutive games.

FROM QUEBEC ACES

Smith, now 29, broke into pro hockey from Quebec Aces in 1946 and spent the next three seasons between the Leafs and Pittsburgh Hornets, their American Hockey League farm team. He counted a record 112 points with Pittsburgh in 1949 and returned to Leafs to stay but he was almost peddled off to Chicago Black Hawks.

Bill Tobin, Chicago vice-president, sought player aid in 1949 and Leaf boss Conn Smythe offered Smith. Tobin wasn't convinced of Smitty's ability and went to Boston to look him over in Stanley Cup play.

Smith didn't play. The teams returned to Toronto and he got two goals and an assist against the Bruins and counted three goals in one game against Detroit in the final.

Smythe removed the "for sale" sign. It hasn't been back since.

REPULSKI GETS RAISE

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Rip Repulski, who hit 19 home runs and 39 doubles last season, was signed Wednesday by St. Louis Cardinals for a salary of about $15,000, an estimated $5,000 more than he received in 1954.

Husky Amateur Soccer Players May Make Cup History Saturday

BY JEFF RYAN

LONDON (CP) — Bishop Auckland, a spare-time band of school-teachers, clerks and accountants, stands a 50-50 chance of making soccer history.

The "Bishops," an amateur team in a sport where professionalism flourishes, play York City Saturday in the fourth round of Britain's premier soccer tournament, the Football Association Cup competition.

If they win, they will be the first unpaid players to reach the last 16 since the sudden-death competition, started in 1871, was remodelled in 1925.

The Bishops are already the acknowledged giant-killers of the current season. But even if they get past York City, a third division side with a good record recently, the odds will still be several hundred to one against them reaching the cup final at Wembley Stadium [illegible]

Still in the running for the cup are such outstanding teams as Wolverhampton Wanderers, unofficial 8-1 favorites, the defending champion West Bromwich Albion, Charlton, Sunderland, Arsenal and Chelsea.

But the Aucklanders, representing a market town in the coal-mining county of Durham in northern England, have reason to be proud.

In beating Ipswich Town on a snowbound field January 12, they joined the Walthamstow Avenue team of two season ago as the only amateur sides to get as far as the fourth round, starting from scratch.

HUSKY SPECIMENS

On the way up the burly Bishops—most of the players are six feet tall or more—knocked out third division Crystal Palace 4-2 and second division Ipswich Town 3-0. The experts say that if the amateurs can do as well in their next engagement, York will be easy.

Star of the Bishops is 22-year-old Frank McKenna, an RAF aircraftman who is doing his compulsory military service. McKenna was granted leave for the Ipswich match, traveling more than 250 miles overnight to arrive at the clubhouse a few minutes before the kickoff.

The Bishops were finalists last season in the amateur version of the FA Cup. Two replays were necessary before Crook Town defeated them 1-0 in the final, scoring the lone goal in overtime.

Socreds Bluffing on Debt Cut, Says Strachan

A charge that the Social Credit government was "running a bluff" in claiming a $50,000,000 net debt reduction was made yesterday by Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan Newcastle).

He referred to the booklet "Two Years Progress with Social Credit" as "sheer sophistry [illegible] "fool and delude the people of this province" on the provincial debt picture.

The booklet states that on February 14, 1952, there was a net debt of $191,091,839 and that by August 2, 1954, this was down to $140,570,000. Mr. Strachan claimed that the government had the use of $29,000,000 in reserve funds left over from the Coalition government and that the actual net debt when they took over was $141,033,000.

* * *

Mr. Strachan assailed Premier W. A. C. Bennett for "holding a whip" over the MLAs with threats of night sittings in an attempt to cut the debate on the Throne Spech short. If the premier wanted to get the budget down early enough to help municipalities get their budgets out, he should have called the session two weeks earlier, the Island CCFer said.

He said there was "absolutely no excuse for curtailment of the debate," and added:

"I realize the ministers consider holding a session a nuisance because it distrubs the day-to-day routine of their departments."

His remarks were greeted with hoots from the government benches and cries of "you're wrong!" Noted for his stinging oratory, Mr. Strachan has the reputation of getting under the collective skin of the Social Credit Government more than any other MLA.

'Search Souls Now'

On the Kaiser dam deal, due to be outlined today by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers, Mr. Strachan said he didn't want to see the government going back to Kaiser in the future and asking them to "search their souls" like he did with the Alcan agreement.

Speakers in the Legislature today will be Liberal leader Arthur Laing, who will lead off at 2 p.m. when the House sits, followed by Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers and CCF member from Alberni John Squire.

"I want them to search their own souls now," he said.

He said that in the last session Mr. Sommers stated it would require 3½ years to find the real potential of the Columbia River system and yet four months later was prepared to make a deal with Kaiser.

* * *

Referring to remarks made Wednesday about "industrial peace" in B.C. under the new Labor Relations Act, Mr. Strachan said:

"They have industrial peace in Russia. They had industrial peace in Germany under Hitler. Is that good?"

He then warned the government that if they did not pay attention to labor's protests over the LRA it would wind up the same way as the former government which ignored labor's suggestions over the old ICA Act.

* * *

The Scottish-born CCFer asked for legislation to curtail "the horrible odor which fouls the air" from the pulp mills and for a review of the school bus curtailment which forced Island children to walk to school along busy main highways.

* * *

Another charge of political patronage was leveled against the Social Credit government yesterday over the permanent appointment of a police magistrate in the Duncan-Cowichan area.

Mr. Strachan said Police Magistrate W. H. Bryant was a defeated Social Credit candidate and that his appointment had been made against the wishes of the two municipal councils.

Clergyman Resigns

One of the B.C. government's two clergymen, Rev. Charles Parker (SC, Peace River), has resigned from his church because he says he is unable to do two jobs adequately.

The Peace River member resigned January 17 from the Church of the Nazarene at Dawson Creek because his duties as an MLA took too much of his time.

* * *

Tenders for the first 65 miles of the PGE extension north of Prince George will be called for within a week, Premier W. A. C. Bennett told reporters yesterday.

He said his government is still hopeful of federal assistance on the development, which will cost a total of $60,000,000 for both northern and southern extensions.

The government has already been authorized to borrow $30,000,000, one third of which will be spent on the 40-mile Squamish-to-North Vancouver extension.

The Throne Speech indicated Tuesday that the government will ask for authority to borrow money for the extension north, which will eventually reach Dawson Creek.

No increase in sessional indemnities will be made this year, Premier W. A. C. Bennett indicated yesterday.

He said members are not paid enough, but the government had to worry about more important underpaid groups like the unemployed in B.C.

* * *

The border between British Columbia and Alberta, drawn on school maps since 1866, will finally become official this year.

The government introduced a bill yesterday which will define 160 miles of the border north of the 57th parallel to the boundary of the Northwest Territories, subject of study by a special boundary commission between 1950 and 1953.

Another bill, an amendment to the Grazing Act, gives the minister of lands and forests greater authority to keep Crown range land clear of grazing animals using the land without authority.

Bill 12, also introduced yesterday, will affect improvement districts which are forced to extend drainage systems in their areas as a result of improvement in adjacent higher areas. [illegible] amendment to the Soldiers' Land Act.

* * *

Premier Bennett told the legislature yesterday he had tried to get information on a reported serious power failure at Kitimat but had been unable to obtain it up to that time.

He made the statement just before adjournment yesterday in reply to a question from Bruce Brown (L. Prince Rupert).

* * *

The redistribution committee which will be re-established this year may end up with a Social Credit majority.

In a notice of motion that appeared in the order paper yesterday, Premier Bennett proposed that the committee contain 11 members, six Social Crediters, three CCFers, one Liberal and one Independent.

The notice proposed the same 10 members that sat last year plus Cyril Shelford (SC, Omineca). Last year it was an even split.

The committee has been studying the possibility of in[illegible] redistributing the present 48.

* * *

The provincial government is expected to set up an advisory board on teacher training which will give it greater control of the University of B.C. school of education.

The board will probably be made up of representatives from the UBC school of education, the education department and Victoria College.

It is expected that amendments to the University of B.C. Act will be brought in by Education Minister Ray Williston for the plan which he will outline when he speaks next week.

Officials from the department of education, the University and Victoria College have been conferring for several months on the problem. The government at present has no control over the university's teacher training school.

Mr. Williston has incrased enrollment at B.C.'s two normal schools with a system of student loans and a steped-up program to "sell" education to students.

Rotarians See Film

Victoria Rotary Club yesterday saw a half-hour color film about the Habsburg art treasures in Vienna.

Objects shown varied from religious paintings and statuary by masters of the Middle Ages, to Cellini salt-cellars and gold-encrusted wine goblets.

The film was shown by courtesy of a distillery company.

Mayor Has Grave Doubts

City Council Tables James Bay Zoning After Loud Protest

The controversial James Bay re-zoning by-law, designed to pave the way for expansion of the Legislative Buildings, was tabled by city council yesterday before reaching second reading.

Decision came after the mayor expressed grave doubts about the advisability of the proposed zoning change and Ald. Robert Macmillan asserted the provincial government had no definite plan for expansion southeast toward Beacon Hill Park.

The proposed zoning change was recommended by the Victoria Town Planning Commission following consultation with elected and technical members of the provincial government. While rezoning the area zoned for apartments in the general area east of Oswego Street, the plan would limit construction in the area bounded by Douglas, Menzies, Simcoe and Belleville mainly to single family and duplex dwellings.

DELEGATES PROTEST

A large delegation of James Bay residents who would be [illegible] affected by the change appeared at the council session to submit a protest petition signed by 109 persons.

Miss Iona Porter, 619 Superior, who headed the delegation, declared property in question is now much in demand for apartment purposes and questioned whether owners should be prevented from selling for such development. She said the plan would have the effect of devaluing property in the area so that at some future date it might be secured by the government at lower cost for possible expansion of the Legislative Buildings.

A letter was also received by council from W. R. L. Dodd, manager of the Glenshiel Hotel, 606 Douglas, protesting the zoning change.

The mayor expressed grave doubts as to whether limitations should be placed on apartment construction in the whole [illegible] between the [illegible] and [illegible].

A [illegible] area near the Legislative Buildings should have sufficed, he suggested.

Alderman Macmillan said he checked provincial government officials regarding their stand on the by-law.

"I was told the provincial government does not have a plan," he said. "The only statement I [illegible] was that they have [illegible] in that direction."

[illegible]

Alderman Macmillan said also that the new overall zoning by-law prepared for the [illegible] by the town planning [illegible] [illegible] behind the Legislative Buildings.

The proposed James Bay rezoning plan is "a complete swoop," he contended.

Such a move, he said, would be unfair to persons who may have bought property in the area for apartment development on the understanding that the new city-wide zoning law would permit such construction.

LET IT WAIT

"As far as I'm concerned the James Bay re-zoning by-law can [illegible] on the table until the provincial government presents a plan," declared Alderman Macmillan.

The by-law was taken only to the point of second reading by council. It must go through second reading, committee and third reading before a formal public hearing is held on the by-law.

Council decided not to hear explanations from members of the town planning commission until the public hearing.

Seats on Library Board Filled By Curtis, Mulliner and Neely

Three members were named by city council yesterday to the Victoria Public Library Board.

At the same time, aldermen voted to increase the size of the board from five to seven members.

The two new seats will be filled at the February 10 meeting.

Members appointed yesterday were:

Ald. Austin Curtis, council's own representative, one-year term.

Frank G. Mulliner, former [illegible] who retired last December, two years.

J. F. Neely, former library board chairman who has just completed a term on the board, two years.

One of the new seats will carry a two-year term, the other a one-year term.

Mrs. Doris Lougheed, controversial figure on last year's library board, was not nominated though this step was recommended by the mayor in his inaugural address.

Voting on the [illegible] was done by secret ballot [illegible] extensive and [illegible] confusion over procedure.

At the outset Ald. Brent Murdoch asked to be relieved of his appointment to the board as recommended by the mayor in his inaugural address.

The mayor then [illegible] Alderman Curtis to serve [illegible] [illegible] was approved [illegible].

[illegible] Alderman [illegible] [illegible] Mr. Mulliner and Mr. Lougheed be accepted. There was no seconder and the motion was dropped.

The mayor suggested council should decide how many members should serve on the board.

Ald. Millard Mooney's suggestion that membership remain at five, the same as last year, was approved. Existing members whose terms have an additional year to run are Prof. [illegible] and [illegible].

Aldermen then began submitting nominations for the two board vacancies.

Ald. Robert [illegible] nominated Mrs. [illegible] Maxwell, well-known Victoria High school teacher.

Alderman Smith nominated Mr. Mulliner. Mr. Neeley was nominated by Ald. Millard Mooney. Alderman Murdoch nominated Seth Halton, publisher of The Daily Colonist. Only Mr. Mulliner was elected on the first count of ballots.

At this point, Alderman Macmillan asked if council's original [illegible] setting the size of the board could not be rescinded in favor of a motion [illegible] for [illegible] to seven members.

The mayor suggested [illegible] [illegible] affect completion of the current voting and Alderman Mooney agreed to wait until the vote was over.

On the second ballot count Miss Maxwell and Mr. Neely were tied for the remaining board seat. A third count was [illegible] and Mr. Neely declared [illegible].

[illegible]

Mrs. Maxwell and Mr. Halton were [illegible] the additional seats [illegible] the question of residence qualifications was raised among aldermen.

The mayor said library appointees must be British subjects and if not voters must have lived in Victoria for the preceding six months.

A check was made by [illegible] Mr. Halton [illegible].

[illegible] City Solicitor A. I. Patton ruled the vote valid.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow moved [illegible] nominations for the two [illegible] board seats be tabled [illegible] the next meeting of council. His motion was approved by council.

CCF Leader Advocates Provincial Income Tax

BY RAY BAINES
Colonist Legislative Reporter

A system of provincial income and corporation taxes to replace "some of the present unsatisfactory methods of taxation in B.C." was advocated yesterday by CCF leader Arnold Webster.

Mr. Webster led off yesterday's Throne Speech debate with a two-hour address. A large part of it was devoted to the present federal-provincial tax agreements.

He suggested that the existing tax-rental agreements with Ottawa be retained but the federal government be empowered to collect a provincial income tax for the province in addition to its own. He said that while a direct income tax cannot be levied by the province under the present agreements, there is no reason why one could not be collected by the federal government on a single income tax return for the province.

ACCORDING TO ABILITY

"It would reintroduce taxation according to ability to pay into provincial fiscal policies," Mr. Webster said.

He said the tax form would state for which government the money was being collected and national exemptions would [illegible].

"We cannot continue to burden people with unjust and unscientific modes of taxation. We have already reached the limit of what most people can [illegible]," Mr. Webster said.

[illegible]

GRAVE CONCERN

He said that while most people accept the principle as sound, "there is grave concern about threatened elimination of the small operator."

Referring to U.S. investment, he said: "It was never intended that there should be trafficking in forest management licenses, or that such licenses be used for speculation, especially when such speculation could hand over our resources to foreign control."

He urged that granting of any further licenses be postponed until the completion of the [illegible] commission on forestry.

[illegible]

JOB ACTION URGED

He [illegible] for action on unemployment in B.C. and asked for an end to "[illegible] wrangling on this subject between Victoria and Ottawa."

"While our leaders debate people suffer," he said.

He asked that the government [illegible] up any proposed agreement on the [illegible] [illegible] Columbia River system in cooperation with the federal government.

Airpark Title Bids Illegal, Says Smith

City attempts to gain clear title to the Gordon Head airpark property are illegal, Ald. Donald Smith said yesterday in city council.

Council two weeks ago voted to secure clear title to the property which it obtained several years ago for development as an airport.

[illegible]

He said the Municipal Act gave the city power to buy land [illegible].

Alderman Smith asked City Solicitor A. I. Patton for a ruling. Mr. Patton said he had been given no advance notice that the issue would be raised in council and said he was not prepared to give a hasty ruling.

The mayor asked Mr. Patton to prepare a ruling for the next meeting of council.

A letter from W. A. Scott asking for a hearing on the airpark issue and favoring retention of the Gordon Head property for airport development was tabled for consideration at the next meeting.

Owner Claims Mystery Goldfish But Adventure Proves Too Much

A little goldfish that traveled far afield succumbed yesterday to the effects of its trip.

Found Wednesday afternoon by Robbie Duncan, 5½, of 3122 Rutledge, the small pet was claimed yesterday by its owner, Mrs. R. Mottershead, 3151 Alder Street, after she saw a photo of Robbie and his find in the Colonist.

The five-year-old goldfish had been plucked from her backyard pool by an erring dog, apparently carried over a fence and about 300 feet into Vantance Street playground, Mrs. Mottershead said.

There Robbie found it and took it home to a new fishbowl.

The pet was apparently homesick and showed little vitality or liking for an aquarium.

Returned to its own pool yesterday morning, the goldfish died.

But for his kindness in taking the pet home, Mrs. Mottershead has promised Robbie a goldfish of his own.

Colonist Story Travels Far

Noteworthy Tow Draws World Acclaim

Island Tug and Barge Company of Victoria has won world-wide publicity through a Daily Colonist story about the first of its two recent tows from Latin America.

H. B. Elworthy, president of the tug company, says his firm has received congratulations and inquiries from organizations after the story was reprinted in Syren & Shipping, an authoritative illustrated shipping magazine published in London, England.

Referring to the tow of four British tankers for conversion into self-[illegible] log barges, Syren & Shipping speaks of a "remarkable towing feat for which we are indebted to The Daily Colonist of Victoria."

C. W. Kellock, shipping brokers of London, sent Mr. Elworthy a congratulatory telegram.

They called the tow "a really wonderful performance," praised its organization and leadership and said several continental newspapers mentioned it.

The port captain of South African Railways at Durban sent a long letter asking for technical details because similar tows are carried out along the east coast of Africa, and a marine official sent his congratulations.

Highest praise was paid by the American pilots of the Panama Canal who came out during their time off to watch the Island Tug crews hook up the tankers.

Luncheons and Suppers

Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Boorman, Linkleas Avenue will entertain tomorrow evening with a small supper party at their home in honor of Mr. Andrew Wright and his fiancee, Miss Nan Adair, whose marriage will take place Feb. 5.

Miss Adair was guest of honor at a luncheon on Tuesday when Mrs. Jack Mercer entertained for her at her home, 2760 Beach Drive. Covers were laid for 20 and the table was centred with a beautiful arrangement of daffodils and blue candles. The bride-elect was presented with a gift and a corsage of rosebuds and her mother, Mrs. J. W. Adair received pink carnations en corsage.

Wednesday night Mr. and Mrs. Max Young were hosts honoring the couple at a supper party.

Dean-Hubbard Vows Said at Errington

A reception in Errington War Memorial Hall followed the wedding of Ruth Ella Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hubbard, Errington, V.I. and Ronald Alfred Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Dean, Nanaimo. Rev. Peter Kelly performed the ceremony in St. Andrew's United Church, Errington.

Organ music was played by Miss Dorothy Turner, while soloist was Miss Elsie Farnsworth.

The attractive bride chose a grey suit complimented with pink hat and blouse and black shoes for her wedding. Roses formed her corsage.

Miss Fern Hubbard attended her sister wearing a rust suit with black hat and accessories and green blouse. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Best man was Mr. Thomas Roberts of Nanaimo, brother-in-law of the groom and Mr. Ralph Farnsworth ushered.

Mr. Vedel Farnsworth proposed the toast to the bride at the reception.

The newlyweds will make their home in Nanaimo.

Visitors from Edmonton

Major W. W. Turner, GSO2 at Western Command Headquarters, Edmonton, and Mrs. Turner, with their two children, William, aged two years, and Hope, 10 months, will leave today to return to their home after visiting Major Turner's parents, Col. and Mrs. Maurice Turner, 1684 Yale Street. The visitors were among the guests at the state ball at Government House this week.

Mrs. N. Phillips Named President

Mrs. N. Phillips was elected president of First Baptist Church Women's Circle at the annual meeting, succeeding Mrs. F. Clayden.

Rev. G. R. Easter installed officers who included Mrs. J. M. McKenzie, vice-president; Mrs. Ed Bell, secretary; Mrs. Max Zahel, treasurer; Mrs. J. McKay, assistant secretary; Mrs. W. F. Myers, assistant treasurer; Mrs. D. Pinder, corresponding secretary. Mrs. G. R. Easter is honorary president.

Group leaders are Mrs. M. Zabel, McLaurin; Mrs. J. Nicholson, Angola; Miss K. Stewart, Rose Gordon; Mrs. M. Richardson, Dorothy Franklin; Mrs. G. Bergstrom, Second Mile; and Mrs. Campbell, Vandrick.

Conveners include Mrs. J. M. McKenzie, program; Mrs. R. Mayor, White Cross; Mrs. Chapman, devotional; Mrs. Weeks, teaching course; Mrs. Chapman, guest; Mrs. W. A. Henshaw, social; Mr. H. Elliott, periodicals; Mrs. H. V. Smith, social service; Mrs. A. Booth and Cradle Roll, Mrs. W. F. Myers.

Reports showed $1,500 donated to missions, $100 to the church and $225 for new chairs. More than 1,000 visits were made to sick and shut-ins and parcels were sent to missionaries.

Mrs. Clayden and Mrs. D. Pearson were presented with life memberships.

Tea, Sale Raises $105

A tea and sale of work held recently by the Ladies Auxiliary to the Old Age Pensioners Organization, No. 5, realized $105, members were informed at their meeting last week.

Mrs. A. E. Grafton, vice-president, acted as chairman for the election. Re-elected president was Mrs. C. W. Kendall, who will be assisted by Mrs. E. L. Morgan, vice-president; Mrs. Mae Worley, treasurer; Mrs. Ethel Mutcheson, secretary.

Mrs. Kendall expressed a vote of thanks to the Women of the Moose, chapter 35, who have given both personal and financial assistance during the past year.

The Victas club of the YWCA will hold its usual Friday night dance at the YWCA this week. All young adults are welcome.

Burgoyne Valley WA Names New Officers

GANGES—Mrs. J. Campbell was named president at the annual meeting of the Women's Association of the Burgoyne Valley United Church, Salt Spring Island. Other officers elected were: vice-president, Mrs. Clifford Lee; secretary, Mrs. [illegible]; treasurer, Mrs. J. Ferto.

Mrs. A. White was welcomed as a new member. Plans were made for a spring tea sale to be held in April. The next meeting will take place at the home of Mrs. French on Thursday, February 17.

RECEIVE GIFTS

GANGES—At a meeting of the Sunshine Guild it was announced that gifts of knitting and [illegible] had been received [illegible] Victoria, and a cushion made and donated by Mrs. E. Parsons will be the prize in a forthcoming contest.

Mrs. E. H. Newnham purchased sugar basins and cream pitchers to match the cups and saucers belonging to the organization and kept in the Hall.

It was decided to buy materials to be made up for the spring sale.

Modern Etiquette

BY ROBERTA LEE

Q. How does one "tackle" a whole fish served at the dinner table?

A. First cut off the head and tail and put to one side of your plate. Run the knife the length of the fish just above the backbone, so the fish separates in two parts. Remove the backbone now exposed, placing it also on one side of the plate. If you get a small bone in your mouth, remove it as quietly as possible with your fingers, using your napkin as a casual shield.

Q. Is it proper to smoke at a lunch counter in a drugstore or other such eating place?

A. While this is commonly done, I still cannot sanction it. In the cramped quarters of the average lunch counter it is practically impossible to smoke without blowing some of it in the face of your neighbors and to do this is exceedingly thoughtless and rude!

Church Music Talk Subject

At a meeting of the Royal Schools of Music Association at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Richard Felton, Mr. Arthur W. Lewis, BA, director of music at Lansdowne Junior High School, gave an interesting talk on "Church Music" and played several records.

Mr. Lewis is a former pupil of Dr. Healey Willan and spoke briefly of the great musician. He was thanked by Miss Elsie Friend, president.

Move Lost To Put Halt To Censoring

A move by Aldermen Donald Smith and Robert Macmillan to delete the "power-over-mail" section from the mayor's controversial council procedure by-law was defeated yesterday at city [illegible]

[illegible]

Alderman Smith objected that [illegible]

"It gives you power to reject any communication from the public that in your opinion is unusable," he told the mayor.

CHIEF CENSOR

[illegible]

"Nowhere in Canada is such a dictatorial or un-Canadian by-law in existence," he declared. "In my opinion this is the big shame of Victoria."

[illegible]

"No one in public office today should be afraid of a little criticism," countered Alderman Smith. "You should support the resolution yourself and show you are interested in harmony at city hall."

[illegible]

The mayor said somebody must stop defamatory matter from going to council, arguing that unusable matter was the same as defamatory matter.

[illegible]

The deletion resolution was favored only by Aldermen Macmillan and Smith. Voting against it were the mayor, Ald. Austin Curtis, Alderman Mooney, Alderman Murdoch and Alderman Edgelow.

Alderman Edgelow voted last year with Alderman Macmillan and former Alderman Mrs. Margaret Christie against passage of the controversial procedure by-law.

He said after yesterday's meeting that his vote against deleting the contentious clause does not mean his feelings on the by-law have changed. He said he only wanted to delay the issue until the return of the two absent aldermen.

Monarch CAKE MIXES
GIVE YOU THE BEST "HOME-MADE" YOU'VE EVER MADE!

WHITE CAKE • CHOCOLATE CAKE • GOLDEN YELLOW CAKE •
ANGEL FOOD CAKE • FRUIT CAKE • CHERRY POUND CAKE •
GINGERBREAD MIX • PIE CRUST MIX • TEA-BISK

There just isn't anything to compare with the results Monarch Mixes will give you. Next time you shop, reach for the Queen of the Cake Mixes—Monarch Mixes—all seven of them, each complete even to the milk and eggs. You ADD ONLY WATER—mix and bake. For extra flaky easy-to-roll pie crust, be sure to get a package of Monarch Pie Crust Mix. And Tea-Bisk is the perfect answer as an all-purpose basic baking mix. All Monarch Mixes are guaranteed to give you the best "home-made" you've ever made.

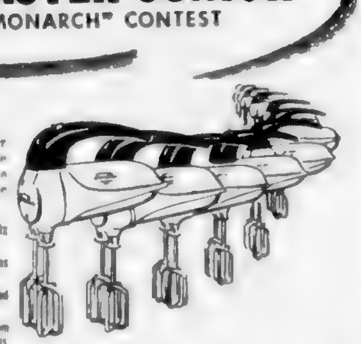
WIN A SUNBEAM MIXMASTER JUNIOR IN THIS NEW, EASY "WHO WAS THE MONARCH" CONTEST

50 SUNBEAM MIXMASTER JUNIORS
TO BE WON THIS MONTH!
CLOSING DATE JANUARY 31st

It's fun to enter!

HERE'S HOW! Write on plain paper your name and address and the answers to these four questions about Kings and Queens of the English Monarchy.

1. Who was the English Monarch that had six wives?
2. Who was the English Monarch that was crowned on June 2nd 1953?
3. Who was the English Monarch that signed the Magna Carta?
4. Who was the English Monarch for whom Sir Walter Raleigh reputedly laid down his cloak?



Mail your entry to "Monarch Contest," Box 598, Vancouver, B.C.

Don't miss this grand opportunity to win a Sunbeam Mixmaster Junior—It mixes, whips, beats, stirs, blends and folds! The correct mixing speed for every mixing need is instantly selected by thumb-tip control.

Easy to clean, the Sunbeam Mixmaster Junior has large beaters for producing greater volume in less time—light in weight for easy handling. This month, fifty of these superior food mixers must be won by users of Monarch Mixes. Be one of the winners. Enter this easy contest to-day!

CONTEST RULES
1. Each entry must be accompanied by the top half of the front panel from any Monarch Mix package.
2. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight January 31st, 1955.
3. Prizewinners will be the first fifty correct entries opened after the contest closes and will be notified by mail within 14 days after closing date, and a list of prizewinners will appear in this paper.
4. This contest is limited to residents of British Columbia.
5. Employees of Maple Leaf Milling Co. Ltd., its advertising agency and their families are ineligible.

BY ROY PARRETT

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, seen on our TV screens three times each week, is one of television's brightest stars. He hosts the [illegible] personality.

It is no easy task to speak for half an hour even with prepared notes. Bishop Sheen does it without any script whatsoever.

He has two aids, a blackboard, a [illegible] and a simple stage set [illegible].

[illegible] New York [illegible] on TV [illegible] viewers [illegible].

[illegible] Bishop Sheen [illegible] KTNT-TV at 7 [illegible].

Tonight's Cavalcade of Sports on KOMO-TV at 7 features a 10-round welterweight match between George Johnson and Ramon Fuentes, from Philadelphia.

[illegible] channel 9 has a [illegible] high fidelity music [illegible].

Eight o'clock is comedy time with Red Skelton on KVOS, Ozzie and Harriet on KING-TV, Jack Carson on CBUT, "Mama" on KTNT-TV, and Red Buttons on KOMO-TV. Take your pick —if you can.

Marlene Dietrich stars in "The Blue Angel" on KVOS [illegible].

There are troubled days on the frontier on KOMO-TV at

"Mind if I come in and watch television while I eat? I hate to miss 'Strike It Rich'."

10.30. Lon Chaney and Lex Barker are seen in "The Battles of Chief Pontiac," an outstanding Western picture.

Charles Laughton stars in "Rembrandt," the story of one of the world's great men, on [illegible].

Jean Parker and Wallace Ford are the feature players in "Roar of the Press," on KTNT-TV at the same time, 10.45.

[illegible] on CBUT at 11. Joan Leslie, James Craig and Jack Oakie [illegible].

Eskimos' 'Walk Home' Frigid, 150-Mile Trek

WINNIPEG (CP) — When two Eskimos missing 17 days on Hudson Bay turned up last week at their home village a radio message said merely "they walked home."

The message failed to add that they walked 150 miles in sub-zero temperatures and howling Arctic winds carrying packs of seal meat, their only food, and wood from their smashed sleds for fuel.

This additional information was contained in a short message received by RCAF headquarters here Wednesday from the Marine Radio Station at Port Harrison across the bay from Fort Chimo.

The radio station in turn received the information from Povungnetuk, the Eskimo village located 150 miles up the coast.

ICE BROKE AWAY

The Eskimos were reported missing January 4 when a section of ice on which they were seal hunting broke away from Cape Smith island near the village. They were cut off from their dogs, kayaks, cooking equipment and extra clothing.

RCAF planes from the Greenwood, N.S., search and rescue squadron searched for more than two weeks covering thousands of square miles without finding a trace of the hunters.

Last Thursday the RCAF on the advice of RCMP called off the search. That same night the Eskimos showed up at their village.

DRIFTED TWO DAYS

The message said the Eskimos drifted on the ice pan for two days before the floating ice lodged against a grounded floe. They had only their rifles and ...

The hunters made their way to shore and then followed the coastline for 150 miles averaging 15 miles a day until they reached Povungnetuk.

The temperatures ranged to 22 below. The Eskimos chopped up their sleds for fuel.

The message said the hunters knew the country well and were never in difficulty despite the weather and lack of shelter.

"They were all none the worse for wear," the message concluded.

Profit Reported

MONTREAL (CP)—International Paints Canada Limited Thursday reported net profits of $119,844 for the fiscal year ended September 30, compared with $162,972 the previous year.

Woofers, Tweeters at Audio Fair Just Preview of Things To Come

MONTREAL (BUP) Organizers of a sonic saturnalia featuring the rumble of woofers and the shrill cry of tweeters said yesterday it was but a preview of things to come.

The occasion was a reception for the trade in advance of the first Canadian Audio Fair, to open here February 3.

The fare at the fair will culminate several years of effort by high-fidelity enthusiasts, professional electronics technicians, manufacturers and — almost forgotten in the new fad — music lovers.

At a press conference at the Windsor Hotel technicians talked a great deal about components: amplifiers, loudspeakers, turntables, arm, and stylus. But Trevor Peck, a pioneer of high fidelity reproduction in Canada said it "simply means better, truer reproduction of music."

High fidelity, or hi-fi as it's known to enthusiasts, made serious inroads into the U.S. music market as early as 1950 but its impact on Canada has only begun to be felt in the last year.

Peck pointed to the switch major electronics firms have made to the production of high-fidelity phonographs and recordings. Hi-fi is becoming a popular thing he said.

Until recently, hi-fi had been available only to the few technicians who knew how to build and assemble the parts, or those who had enough money to have it done for them. Now do-it-yourself kits are bringing the new sound into more and more homes.

"A good human ear," Peck said, "can hear sounds from 28 cycles (vibrations) per second up to 16,000 per second. You can also feel sounds above this range and they impart a flavor to the music. If you don't get them, the effect is not a true one."

CAUGHT, REPRODUCED

The new recording processes are designed to capture these frequencies on discs and the phonographs are built to reproduce them.

Next week's exhibition is intended as a comprehensive show of equipment and records. American, Canadian and British manufacturers will be represented. Part of each day will be devoted to answering the questions of professional visitors. The rest will be available to casual visitors.

Harnessing of Sunlight To Make Food Points Way to Unimagined Abundance

WASHINGTON (UP) — A "sun civilization" of unlimited abundance may be on man's horizon.

This possibility was proclaimed without fanfare at Berkeley, Calif., in the waning days of 1954.

At a time in human history [illegible] was wondering whether his species could survive hydrogen-atomic violence, a group of University of California scientists issued a statement.

The scientists, headed by Dr. Daniel I. Arnon, said they had harnessed sunlight to create sugar and starch out of water and carbon dioxide in the absence of green plants. It had never been done before.

No bells rang, no sirens shrieked, and either the U.S. Congress nor the United Nations was called into extraordinary session.

But if the promise implicit in the Berkeley announcement can be fulfilled, human society is headed for a golden age of plenty in which there will be no war because there will be no reason for war.

Dr. C. F. Kettering, famous General Motors scientist-engineer, said recently that "We've never had any great inventions since the discovery of the wheel." The next great invention, he said, will be artificial food production.

"The human race must some day become independent of plant life," he said, adding the predicition that it will do so "in the next 50 years."

The meaning of the Berkeley announcement was that the man has already found a way to accomplish elementary photosynthesis without benefit of living green cells.

Scientists have a long way to go before they can manufacture fats and proteins as well as carbohydrates artificially in a sun factory.

But enough has been learned to justify belief that man—if he can stay alive for yet a few decades—will liberate himself from the tyranny of growing things.

Should that come to pass, Dr. Arnon said in Berkeley, "it would usher in a new era of unlimited abundance in which man would be able to tap the energy of sunlight directly and free himself of his dependence on green plants for food and energy sources."

The sun is the giver of all life on earth and the source of all power so far used by man on a big scale. It energizes life by means of complicated chemical processes employed by green plants and known collectively as photosynthesis.

The green leaves of plants trap sunlight and transform it into chemical energy. In the process they create out of water, carbon dioxide and small amounts of other elements the tissues and materials on which all life subsists.

Once-living organisms, preserved over millions of years as hydro-carbons in the form of coal, oil and gas, supply man with stored sunlight which he converts into power for his machines by combustion.

Photosynthesis is amazingly complex, amazingly rapid, and amazingly inefficient. A plant manages to trap and store less than 1 per cent of the sunlight that falls on its leaves. A man-made machine that inefficient would be discarded. Nevertheless, the bulk product of photosynthesis is tremendous.

If science can identify and then manufacture these compounds out of non-living matter plus solar energy, it can produce earth's basic foods and fuels without the help of plants.

Since plants are so inefficient, there is reason to believe that man—once he learns the steps—can better their production manyfold. That is the promise in the announcement from Berkeley.

And Sapphire Says 'Phffft'

Excuse Found So Cute Starlet Takes Wondrously Deep Breath

BY VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Sex appeal in movieland—cheese-cake division:

All it takes to get a starlet into sweater and shorts is an excuse to have her picture taken. The occasion can be a holiday (the 4th of July posing with a firecracker), [illegible] (seated on a cake of ice) or a calamity (being dragged from the surf by a leading man).

There being a dearth of holidays, hot weather and calamitous situations, Columbia Studios seized on a hassle in Manhattan Beach, Calif., to pour curvesome Adelle August into a scanty, photo-worthy outfit.

Seems the citizens of the small beach community are irate because the city council plans a leash law for cats. And [illegible] Adelle owns two Siamese cats it was only reasonable she should get into the act.

We met red-haired Adelle on Sunset Boulevard. Her companion was a disenchanted grey tabby secured by a leash. She (Adelle) was wearing brief white shorts and a straining tan sweater.

"I'd have brought my own cats," she said, "but they hate leashes. They get spasms."

Unmindful of whistles from passing boulevardiers, truck drivers applying brakes and a small traffic jam, Adelle took a wondrously deep breath.

The cat, whose name was Sapphire, glared at the camera and all was ready.

A photographer posed Adelle while a Columbia publicist emitted a variety of startling noises in an attempt to glean a smile from Sapphire. Adelle wriggled happily and Sapphire hissed.

"Did you hear that?" the publicist asked in amazement. "Clear as a bell she said phffft —'Phffft' is the name of a Columbia picture starring Judy Holliday. Cute, huh?"

Examiner

[illegible] Principal of the music school at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto since 1945, Dr. Ettore Mazzoleni will conduct conservatory examinations in Victoria Wednesday to Friday next week. Dr. Mazzoleni is also famed for his work as a conductor of symphony orchestras.

Sammon To Head Board of Health

A tradition and a procedure were dropped yesterday when the Union Board of Health for Esquimalt elected a non-Victoria man as chairman and decided that all board meetings will be opened to the press in future.

Esquimalt councillor G. K. Sammon, beginning his third year on the board, became the first chairman since the board was formed in 1946 who was not chosen from among the three Victoria council representatives.

He succeeds former Victoria alderman Mrs. Margaret Christie. Board members, apart from the three aldermen, are one Esquimalt councillor and two school board representatives.

Explaining the decision to open board meetings to the press, Councillor Sammon said reporters were invited up to the time changes were made in the procedure by-law early last year.

At that time, it was decided the press could not attend.

The new chairman said yesterday, "As a union board, it is up to the board to decide by itself any issues which they want the press to be present to hear.

"The board alone is the body that should make the decision," he added.

Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, acting medical health officer, presented tables which show that the current outbreak of measles is normal for the early part of the year.

The board received but did not open three applications for the post of medical health officer. It is expected that more applications will be received before the late February deadline.

Dynamic Esquimalt Pastor, No Scot, Sparks Burns Family Night Whoopee

An elder of Esquimalt United Church leaned against a wall last night, mopped his brow, and gasped:

"How can you keep up with him?"

His remarks were directed at the tartan-shirted Rev. Douglas R. Pilkey, who was then gaily crashing his way through a Scottish dance, "Strip the Willow," in the church hall.

Mr. Pilkey was the man behind the church's Rabbie Burns Family Night celebration.

He was also responsible for the New Year's Eve party held at Esquimalt United.

While not a Scot—"Pilkey? It's French originally" — he sparked the celebrations. He directed the program, led the singing, skipped enthusiastically through several Scottish dances and helped change the records.

A native of eastern Canada, Mr. Pilkey came to Esquimalt last summer from Quesnel.

Entertainment was provided by the church choir, Piper Jeannie Burns, dancers Doreen Beattie, Patsy Ferris, Jennifer Costain and Carol Coxworth, and soloists Lois Burns, Alice Waddel and Jim Matheson.

It was greatly enjoyed by an audience that ranged from elderly to babe-in-arms. Refreshments, with Mr. Pilkey an enthusiastic participant, rounded off the celebrations.

Japan Eyeing India

Japan is not very itnerested in Canada as a market, R. W. Mayhew, former ambassador to Japan, told members of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, last night.

Japan's big market is not in North America, he said. "The 15,000,000 people in Canada over a 3,000-mile front, don't interest them very much. They are more interested in the billions of people in India," he said.

There is no allowance made for immigration of Japanese at present and the Japanese ask why they are treated differently to other Asians and Europeans who are allowed to come here, he said.

However, Canadian-born Japanese may return to Canada any time they wish."

On Unified Command

Don't Pressure Canada Now, U.S. Chiefs Say

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senior American military officials have advised Congress to avoid pressing Canada for any closer continental defense arrangement than has now been worked out.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, both said Wednesday they are satisfied with present agreements for Canadian-American co-operation in operating radar warning networks and other air defense facilities.

UNITED COMMAND

Representative Sterling Cole (Rep., N.Y.) asked during a hearing of the House of Representatives armed services committee whether arrangements have been completed for setting up a possible "united command for the combined defense of Canada and the United States."

Radford said "we have arrangements which I am sure" U.S. air defense officials believe "are entirely adequate for an emergency situation and we have not gone further because the arrangements that we have will lend themselves to an immediate single command if the Canadians are willing" to join one in an emergency.

"My own personal feelings are," Radford said, "that we shouldn't press them to go further than they have gone."

Wilson supported this position.

Aluminum Production Stops

Snowslide Blamed For Power Break

A snowslide, which is believed to have damaged two or three transmission line towers in the Kildala Pass, is probably responsible for the costly power failure at the Kitimat Alcan smelters.

The Daily Colonist learned last night that auxiliary power units supplied only enough power for the town's domestic use. Radio-telephone connections were still poor last night.

Power was interrupted Wednesday afternoon, stopping aluminum production.

The company has not yet announced when production will be resumed. It is believed it may be interrupted for at least two weeks.

Causing concern to company officials are the huge pots where the metal is kept in molten state.

If they are allowed to cool, the aluminum will harden and it would take at least two weeks to chip out the "frozen" metal.

Dawn Patrol Of Police Seeks Killer

NEW YORK (UP)—A "dawn patrol" of 50 detectives was ordered out this morning to check Manhattan's swank night-clubs for leads on the murderer of Serge Rubinstein, the fun-loving financier.

Rubinstein, a draft-dodger, millionaire and man of many enemies, was found strangled Thursday in the bedroom of his plush Fifth Avenue mansion across the street from Central Park.

The detectives were told to question cab drivers, night club waiters and operators and others who know the comings and goings of members of cafe society.

'Questioning' Wins Liberty

VANCOUVER (CP)—Magistrate Thomas Dohm Thursday dismissed a vagrancy charge against John Olynk, 27. He said an operating room table was no place to question a man. Olynk was arrested in St. Paul's Hospital when he declined to explain a bullet wound in his leg.

Refuses To Name Attackers

Semenick Convicted On Unusual Charge

VANCOUVER (CP)—William Semenick, middle-aged victim of a gangland ride last November, was convicted here Thursday on a rarely-used charge of "concealing the identity of the two men who attempted to murder him."

Mr. Justice James Coady remanded him to the end of the Supreme Court assizes for sentencing. The assizes are expected to end Monday.

The jury deliberated 25 minutes before convicting Seminick on the charge, laid under British common law.

NO PROVISION

Court officials, who could recall no similar case in Canadian legal history, said there was no provision for the charge under the Criminal Code.

The charge was not one of obstructing justice, they said.

Semenick, who appeared in court Thursday still showing effects of a bullet in the right thigh and a recent heart attack, is also scheduled to appear in court next week on a charge of trafficking in narcotics.

He was arrested on the second charge Wednesday, while out on bail on the other charge.

An RCMP officer testified that Semenick refused to name his attackers because he might be "violating some code to which he clung."

Semenick refused to identify the two men who drove him to Stanley Park here November 3 and shot him as he fled the car.

Walk-Out Ends At Ford

TORONTO (CP)—The Ford of Canada strike, longest in company history, ended yesterday after 109 days.

The walk-outs took nearly 9,000 workers from their jobs in three company plants in Ontario.

A Ford official said the powerhouse at Windsor is being reopened at once and cars are expected to come off the production line a week from Monday.

Bonner Invites Test

VANCOUVER (CP)—Attorney-General Robert Bonner said Thursday he would welcome a test case to decide whether advance ticket sales of the Pacific National Exhibition can be classed as a lottery.

Buyers of advance tickets are eligible for automobile prizes and the PNE has estimated it would lose $200,000 a year if sales were stopped.

Mr. Bonner Tuesday said the provincial government will enforce a provision of the federal criminal code prohibiting ticket sales outside the site of an agricultural fair.

"I have no intention of debating the correctness of any legal opinion offered by this department," the attorney-general said.

"If any opinion is incorrect, the courts are available to pronounce upon it, and we shall be grateful to have any decision."

PNE directors will decide whether to contest the ruling at a meeting next Wednesday.

U.S. Plans Planes With Atom Power

WASHINGTON (UP)—The air force is planning an free the United States from dependence on overseas bases, atom-powered intercontinental bombing fleet that would Gen. Nathan F. Twining said yesterday.

At the same time, Air Force Secretary Harold E. Talbott said it is "imperative" for the U.S. to beat Russian in the critical race to develop city-wrecking intercontinental guided missiles with hydrogen warheads.

Both air force officials testified before the House armed services committee, which is reviewing the nation's over-all defense program. Democrats have cast a critical eye on sharp military manpower cuts ordered by the administration.

General Twining, air force chief of staff, said "many difficult engineering problems" remain before an atomic-powered bomber is built.

"But, he said, "we believe that the advances we have made to date have given us the basic knowledge from which we can project practical applications . . ."

"We have hope that this will be a truly intercontinental weapon freeing us from the dependence of overseas logistics (bases)," he said. "We have placed a high priority on the development of this equipment."

Brief Blaze Levels Terrace Civic Centre

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Fire leveled the civic centre here in a two-hour-blaze last night.

Damage was estimated at $100,000. The former army building was insured for about $25,000.

Terrace's 50-man volunteer fire brigade, with only two trucks, was unable to save the structure and concentrated on preventing the fire from sweeping through an adjacent elementary school.

Fire Chief Curly Casey was reported in good condition in hospital where he was taken after being overcome by smoke.

The fire is believed to have started in an oil furnace below eight bowling alleys.

Caretaker Scottie Robinson, his wife and family, escaped from their upper-floor home but lost all possessions.

Evacuation Vessel Late from Tachens As Tension Grows

Planes, Ships On Patrols

TAIPEH, Formosa (Reuters)—An evacuation ship due to arrive today with wounded Nationalist Chinese soldiers and civilians from the Communist-threatened Tachens failed to appear on time at Formosa's northern port of Keelung.

Reports reaching here said Communist destroyers and high-speed torpedo boats were patrolling the entrances to the Tachens in an effort to seal them off from evacuation ships.

Other reports said United States Sabrejets of the 18th interceptor wing now were patrolling Formosa Strait preparatory to the evacuation of Nationalist garrisons from the Tachens under protection of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

In further hot action this morning, the Chinese Nationalist air force claimed its bombers operating over Red-held Toumen island had early today scored direct hits on a second 1,500-ton Communist warship in three days. It said the ship was "badly crippled."

BASES POUNDED

The air force added that more waves of Nationalist planes had pounded Communist bases in the area.

Powerful U.S. air and naval forces began swinging into position today to shield the evacuation of 20,000 Nationalist troops from the Tachens.

The mammoth operation, almost under the noses of the Chinese Communists, was expected to be launched any hour between now and the week end. Evacuation plans were reported to have been completed at a Nationalist cabinet meeting Thursday.

SQUADRONS ARRIVE

Two squadrons of American F-86 Sabrejets—heroes of the sky war over Korea—flew into Formosa from their Manila and Okinawa bases Thursday and the U.S. Far East Air Force in Tokyo announced other "offensive units" are being redeployed to forward bases—presumably Formosa.

Vice-Admiral Alfred M. Pride, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet now off Formosa, is reported to have made final plans to provide an air "umbrella" with his carrier-based aircraft and the air force planes over the evacuation scene.

The Tachens, 200 miles north of Formosa and within 20 miles of the Communist mainland, are exposed to the nearby Communist-held islands of Toumen and Yikiangshan. Red artillery batteries on Toumen twice shelled Upper Tachen island Thursday.

SHIPS SET AFIRE

Meantime, the Nationalist fighter-bombers smashed for the second time within 24 hours at Yikiangshan, captured last week by the Communists. A Nationalist air force announcement said its planes set ablaze three landing ships near Yikiangshan before being driven off without loss by Communist interceptor planes.

As the first American Sabre jets took up position at "temporary duty bases" in Formosa, reports grew that Gen. Chiang Kai-shek has agreed to President Eisenhower's suggestions for a cease-fire in the Formosan straits.

Eisenhower Says:

Formosa Policy Defensive Only

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower declared yesterday his Formosa policy is purely defensive—and he reserved to himself alone any decision to strike the Red Chinese mainland in safeguarding the island stronghold of Chiang Kai-shek.

He thus moved to quiet expressed fears in the Senate that Chiang might drag the United States into a great conflict, or that a hot-headed American military man might launch preventive war.

The statement brought powerful support from chairman Walter George (Dem., Ga.) of the foreign relations committee, who called the chamber to back the President "in this grave juncture of world affairs."

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons was urged Thursday night to adopt a system of simultaneous language translation of debates, thus permitting members to follow speeches given in a tongue other than their own.

Public Condemnation and Indignation

Scottish Officials Deplore 'Limey Lizzie' Sign

EDINBURGH (AP)—Scottish officials expressed consternation Thursday over a sign painted on the wall of Holyroodhouse demanding that the Queen stay out of town.

The sign, painted in four-foot high yellow letters, was discovered at dawn on the garden wall of the palace. It read: "Get out, Limey Lizzie."

The sign was quickly scrubbed away and an investigation was opened by police to track down the painter. But the trail was at a dead end.

It was a 300-yard trail of dripped yellow paint, running from the garden wall at the foot of towering Arthur's Seat mountain, to a deserted alley. There it ended. Police say they think the painter made his getaway in a car parked in the alley.

Chief Inspector Andrew Crosbie said "quite right there is public condemnation and indignation over this affair. We are anxious to get the culprit and if anyone can help please let them step up."

One of the first to speak out was Nigel Tranter, Scottish novelist and vice-convener of the Scottish Covenant Association, a group which wants a separate Scottish Parliament and home rule.

Trantor is not anti-English. But he is pro-Scottish.

"I deplore actions of this sort," the novelist said. "Personally I think the sign was painted by some youth. The word 'Limey' is used in horror comics and such like. It is seldom used by a Scot."

Other officials thought that possibly extremists in the Scottish nationalist movement might be responsible. In recent years several bright red mail boxes in Scotland have been dynamited.

The reason was: the mail boxes carried the cipher "E R II" which means Elizabeth Regina Queen Elizabeth the Second.

As far as England is concerned the Queen is the second Elizabeth to reign. But she is the first Elizabeth to reign over Scotland. England and Scotland hardly were on speaking terms when the first Elizabeth, of Tudor, reigned.

Painting the sign at Holyroodhouse was a particularly rude thing to do," one Scot said, especially since the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh are due to spend a week at Holyroodhouse in late June.
